A Mother's Sorrow.

A company of ladies assembled in a parlour one day talking about their different troubles. Each one had something to say about her own trials. But there was one in the company, pale and sad-looking who, for awhile, said nothing. Suddenly rousing her self at last she said:

"My friends you don't any of you know what trouble is."

"Will you please, Mrs. Gray," said the kind voice of one who knew her story, "tell the ladies what you call trouble."

"I will if you desire it, for it may be truly said of me, 'I am one who hath seen affliction.'"

"My parents were very well off, and my girlhood was surrounded by all the comforts of life. Every wish of my heart was gratified, and I was cheerful and happy."

"At the age of nineteen I married one whom I loved more than all the world besides. Our home was retired; but the sun never shone upon a lovelier spot, or a happier household. Years rolled on peacefully. Five lovely children sat around the table, and a little curly head still nestled in my bosom. One night, about sundown, one of those fierce black storms came on which are common to our climate. For many hours the rain poured down incessantly. Morning dawned but still the elements raged. The little stream near our dwelling house became a foaming torrent. Before we were aware of it, our house was surrounded by water. I managed, with my babe, to reach the little elevated spot, where the thick foliage of a few wide-spreading trees afforded some protection, while my husband and sons strove to save what they could of our property. At last a fearful surge swept away my husband, and he never rose again. Ladies, no one ever loved a husband more; but that was not trouble."

"Presently my sons saw the danger, and the struggle for life became the only consideration. They were as brave loving boys as ever blessed a mother's heart; and I watched their efforts to escape with such agony as only mothers can feel. They were so far off that I could not speak to them; but I could see them closing nearer to each other, as their island grew smaller and smaller."

"The swollen river raged fearfully around the huge trees. Dead branches, upturned trunks, wrecks of houses, drowning cattle and masses of rubbish, all went floating past us."

"My boys waved their hands to me, and then pointed upward. I knew it was their farewell signal and you mothers can imagine my anguish. I saw them perish—all perish! Yet that was not trouble."

"I hugged my baby close to my heart; and when the water rose to my feet I clung into the lower branches of the tree, and so kept retreating before it, till the hand of God stayed the water that they should rise no further. I was saved. All my worldly possessions were swept away; and all my earthly hopes blighted. Yet that was not trouble."

"My baby was all that I had left on earth. I labored day and night to support him and myself, and sought to train him in the right way; but as he grew older, evil companions won him from me. He ceased to care for his mother's counsel, he would sneer at her kind entreaties and agonizing prayers. He became fond of drinking. He left my humble home, that he might be understood in his evil ways. His nights were spent at the public house and the music hall, with drinking and wicked companions. At last one night, when heated with wine, he took the life of a fellow creature. He ended his days upon the gallows! God had filled my cup of sorrow before now it ran over. That was trouble my friends, such as I hope the Lord in mercy may spare you from ever knowing."

"Use all your influence against the curse of our land, the drink habit; and urge, by personal example, your sons and daughters never to taste the intoxicating cup. It is one of the bitterest draughts of my cup of sorrow that my unhappy son was able to say, 'Mother, it was at your table that I learned to love the drink that has been my ruin. The first glass of wine I ever drank was handed to me by you.'—National Advocate."

Gold Mining in the South.

The following interesting article we find in a recent issue of the Engineering and Mining Journal, written by H. V. Maxwell, a resident of Knoxville, Tenn., which speaks our sentiments exactly. Mr. Maxwell has been in our city for several months making investigations of the mineral resources of this section and knows exactly what he is talking about. It is as follows:

Sir: When one sees the number of abandoned gold mills through the entire Piedmont Region of the South, and further, the amount of gold-bearing material, he wonders at the combined conditions. It is easy, however, to determine the cause of failure in the majority of instances. The fact is that the basis is lack of practical prospectors. The unfortunates lands of the South, unlike those of the West, are held in fee simple, and save with permission of the owners, cannot be prospected; even if they could mining rights must be secured by lease or purchase, while throughout the majority, if not all the gold districts of the world Governments control and grant rights to those willing to take the risk of original development. This being the case, the prospector becomes the forerunner or advance agent of capital, and by constant labor, prompted by the promise or ownership, locates a claim, and works untiringly in the development of what he is justified in believing will return a fortune. In the South he has no privileges, and no amount of work on a prospect gives title. The result of these conditions is that energetic pioneers avoid the southern field and seek those of the west. Aside from the native miners, gold mining is left to promoters, who are, as a rule, possessed of vivid imaginations and cramped incomes. Even if he is honest, his imagination expands under pressure of want, and he carries to the markets a trunk full of picked samples to allure ignorant people. Usually he enlists a few sharp fellows in the East, who by the judicious investment in a charter, some cheap reports, and a well-written and highly-colored prospectus, announce to the world that an immense new field has been opened, or the only perfect gold-saving method is owned and controlled by the company, and that conditions justify a big capitalization. A superintendent is employed, and money flows like water, while the machinery is being put in place and the peeling of stock to the people who have no conception of what values are is kept up.

Look over the Southern field, and the history of the majority of the companies organized, and you will find in the most cases that I have written history. Perhaps the property is worthy, but the fact that there are only two properties in the entire field are paying steady dividends indicates that either the property or the management is worthless or that the Appalachian country is dangerous. The latter is not the case, however, as the mountain sections of the Central South, as is fast being shown, present wonderful opportunities for investments in mining, which are retarded largely from lack of proper knowledge and appreciation of the field.

This is not a field for the lone prospector, nor will it ever be. If, however, ten men will syndicate themselves, and each subscribe a few hundred dollars as a prospecting fund, and then cast around for some competent man who is willing to carry his part of the risk by giving his personal time, and experience to the business for a reasonable portion of what profits may result, then the chances of success in the Southern field are good.

Properties in the South are numerous and cheap. There are thousands of them where a man can pan from 25c. to $1 a day. There are vast areas extending for miles, where a man with a pan can find colors at every panning; there are veins measuring from stringers up to 10, 20 and 30 ft., that will pay if properly handled. The large veins are, of course, usually low grade, while the stringers are the richest, and yet there are many mediums which will pay for treatment. There are tops and sides of hills and ridges carrying large bodies of saprolites which will pay handsome dividends by hydraulic mining. But the trouble generally is that a mill is built on what the property is said to have produced and not upon what is developed and known to be awaiting treatment.

Organize a syndicate and enlist a competent prospector as above suggested and the chances are that he will soon find something that in his judgment will justify some work. He can get an option on it nine times out of ten if he will develop it. Let him take the option and prospect the property, and so long as it continues to show up let him progress with his work and the chances are that within two or three months he has made a mine out of a property that will cost the syndicate but a few thousand dollars and will then justify them in going to their friends and the public. The risk is small.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, AUGUST 2, 1901.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O. as Second Class Matter.

Peach brandy will soon be "ripened."

Parties are boring for oil in Elbert county, Ga.

Dawson Superior Court commences next Monday.

One of the best edited papers that comes to this office is the Monroe Advertiser.

The long drought in Kansas has been broken at last by rains but they are too late to do the corn crops any good.

In the recent election in Canton Ga., public schools lost by a vote of 57 to 76, causing the friends of education to wonder what to do next.

The Atlanta papers admitted that it turned hot in that city last Friday. We didn't believe that it would remain as cool as an ice berg all the summer.

It is claimed now that a single ton of ore in Wilkes county, Ga., produced $22,640. A company of Atlanta men have been organized to work it to be known as Columbia Mining Co.

Had our brethren of the press planted a corn crop and given it just half the attention that they have the gubernatorial matter there would have been an over production of the grain this year.

Hon. F. G. duBignon is out of the race for gubernatorial honors on account of ill health, still leaving several more in the field. Some of these will be sick too "before the battle is ended, mother."

The other day Henry and Will McKinney, both colored, shot at and tried to kill L. G. Power, a son of the clerk of the Superior Court of White county. The negroes were at once arrested, tried and bound over.

Four lawyers of Tennessee engaged in a desperate duel in the court room at Clarksville, Tenn., the other day. Fifteen shots were fired and three men wounded. There is nothing like having a lively court even if it takes pistols to do it.

Last week in Swainsboro two preachers and an old woman were tried in court for disturbing divine worship, caused by church factions. The letter of the law had been violated but the Judge asked the Solicitor for a verdict of not guilty. Then one of the ministers asked to be permitted to pray, which was granted, and for a while the court room presented the appearance of an old time camp meeting.

H. A. Rucker, col., has been re-appointed collector of internal revenue for Georgia. While this negro politician and his several negro clerks and heads of departments may make efficient officials and attentive to the duties of the office, yet it does not look right for a superior race to be put on the outside of the counter when doing business with them. Negro rule in Georgia and the South will never add strength to President McKinley and his party.—Cherokee Advocate.

The Knoxville Sentinel drives she center in the following manner: A newspaper that makes no enemies isn't worth the paper on which it is printed. Every day there is published something in a real newspaper which some one for their own personal reasons would like to have left out. A newspaper may have a warm friend, a person who has been a friend for years, it may have done him 99 favors, but let it fail to do him the one hundredth, or let it say something which he thinks contrary to his interest, business or calling or telling the truth about him when he doesn't want the truth told, and that person becomes an enemy. He is quick to forget the past, but he is very bitter about the present.

Reunion 52nd Ga. Regiment C. S. A.

The survivors of the 52nd Ga. Reg't C. S. A., are requested to meet in Gainesville on Tuesday, Aug. 20th. The 43rd Ga. Reg't will meet there at the same time and place. Veteran soldiers of other commands of both Confederate and Federal are invited to meet with us and we will have a gala day. Gainesville will be prepared to give us a cordial welcome.

Attention, Young Men!

The state, recognizing the necessity of your obtaining an education, has established at Dahlonega, a college where you can have the advantage of a $40,000.00 equipment and a faculty, each man a specialist in his department. Tuition is free and board is only $8.00 a month in dormitory. It is your college, built for you, supported by you, and stands ready to help you. It is not a town school but a real college, being one of the five male colleges of the state. It costs no more to go to a real college than to one only in name. Don't cheat yourself by going to a school without library or scientific laboratories, Lumpkin county boys and girls should attend by the score. The county needs educated men and women. Invest your money in brains. Don't delay longer.

J. L. STEWART, Pres., Dahlonega, Ga.

Sister Carrie Nation has been sentenced in the district court of Topeka, Kansas, to a fine of $100 and 30 days in jail for disturbing the peace and dignity of the city.

A negro in Atlanta stole a bicycle out of police headquarters the other day. So that city is still in the lead.

It is announced by the Georgia Cracker that Judge Estes will be in the race again for the Judgeship of the Northeastern circuit.

Mrs. Barney Meaders, who has many relatives in Lumpkin county died a few days ago at her home in Hall.

The registration for the Oklahoma lands has closed. The number registered is 168,855 and only 18,000 claims.

Montz Jones, a boy preacher, is following the business down in Monroe county.

A negro killed his brother in Macon last Sunday about 75 cents.

We Want To Win!

We are headed for the goal of your approval. We'd like to have you to give us a chance to win your patronage. We have the most complete stock, and we keep moving to the front. We'll win, of course; won't you help us?

H. D. GURLEY.

The meeting now in progress at the Methodist church is attracting much attention and seems to be accomplishing some good, more so than any held in Dahlonega for many years. Minister Rogers has been working faithfully for the church all the year, apparently effecting but little good but it may be that he will now be rewarded for his labors all in a bulk. We hope so far he is a good man who never neglects his duties.

Some of Gainesville citizens never fail in trying to injure Dahlonega when an opportunity is offered. When Mr. Carter first talked of establishing his bank in Dahlonega one Gainesvillian remarked that if he depended on it for a living here he would perish to death. The gentleman paid no attention to the remark but went on and established his bank. Now let Dahlonega stick to him and show this man that there are other places besides Gainesville.

Judge Murray, president of the Gainesville and Dahlonega Electric Railway Co., and also a large stockholder of Crown Mountain Gold Mining Co., made his advent into the city last Tuesday. The Judge is in high spirits both about Crown Mountain and the railroad.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, AUGUST 2, 1901.

Dr. Stow's office is receiving the attention of the painter.

The Masonic Hall is looking much better since receiving the attention of the carpenters and painter.

Geo. Pock of this county, was bound over last Wednesday for violating the Internal revenue laws.

A number of the bad roads of the county have been receiving proper attention within the past week or so.

The little three-year-old boy of Mr. and Mrs. Miller Davis died near Two Run, in this county last Sunday evening of measles.

The school at Pleasant Hill, in charge of Mr. Smith, has been closed for awhile on account of the measles breaking out in that section.

Homor Strickland, after spending several days here "with the old folks at home," returned to his place of business at Swainsboro last week.

Mrs. Frank Meaders, who received injuries by being thrown from a horse some time ago, is still unable to get about without crutches.

Crops are laid by and the big revival meetings are on hand all through the county and we trust that everybody will get religion and hold it.

T. S. Littlefield has added another porch to his store house and dwelling, besides many other valuable improvements, adding greatly to its appearance.

Improvements on Park street still continue. More buildings and improvements have been made on this street within the last two years than on any other in town.

That jovial, good hearted fellow, Mr. Swam, the stenographer of this judicial circuit, after an absence of several weeks from Dahlonega, returned last Sunday in the best of health.

Rev. Geo. Battles, of Rome, Ga., who organized Etawah church in this county some seven years ago filled the pulpit at that place last Sunday, whose interesting sermon was listened to by a large and well behaved congregation.

Last Sunday, while Egbert McClure, of Dawson county, was on his way to Etawah church in Lumpkin his horse fell with him while coming down a hill, painfully but not seriously injuring his side and forehead. It was at first believed by some that his skull had been fractured.

We understand that F. W. Adams president of the Dahlonega Consolidated Company is turning his attention to the oil fields. Last week he telephoned Charlie Singleton, at Dahlonega, to come at once to the place where oil has recently been struck in Tennessee. The Captain may understand oil mining better than he does gold mining and make his millions yet.

More than 200 persons went up last Sunday to the residence of J. L. Cain, residing near Porter Springs, and helped to celebrate the birthday of Aunt Betsy Cain, who was 100 years old that day, perfectly well and enjoying her second eyesight. Rev. W. G. Spencer delivered a very appropriate sermon and made many touching remarks who was listened to by the large audience with much interest. Besides a number of presents a purse of money was given the old lady, which she appreciated very much, causing it to be one of her happiest days. Col. Farrow was on hand who took several negatives of Mrs. Cain, whose picture will likely appear in some newspaper later on. Aunt Betsy is a good christian lady, having belonged to the Methodist church ever since she was about 11 years old, and rarely ever failed attending services as long as she was able to go.

The rock work of Will Prices store is moving on rapidly.

Mrs. A. Ballinger has returned to her home at Floyd Springs, Ga.

Eggs opened out last Monday at only 8 cents cash in Dahlonega and dull at that.

The top of the market for corn this week in Dahlonega has been only 81 cents per bushel.

The colored people are carrying on an interesting meeting at the Baptist church this week.

The little one-year-old girl of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Coffey died last Monday night at about 9 o'clock.

J. H. Jenkins commenced the rock work of the college dormitory last Tuesday.

F. V. Moose received a letter from the authorities at the state asylum Tuesday stating that his son Charlie was sick with the fever.

We were pleased to meet C. J. Norwood, of Kentucky, in the city this week, being the first visit he has paid this section in a long time.

Several parties have lost their stock in Dahlonega recently. Last week a good mule of Geo. Marlow's died and this week "Boy" Thomas lost one of his horses.

Morehart McKee left one of his store doors unlocked the other night, and it was reported that some one entered it and stole a lot of things but Mr. McKee says there is nothing of it.

Up to this time Hall's Villa has been run by the Consolidated Co., but we understand that a move is on foot now to lease it from one to five years. A change will probably be made the 15th.

"One eyed" Bill Crane, charged by the last grand jury of selling liquor, was arrested by Sheriff Davis and Will Rice Tuesday night and brought in. Bill has been on the dodge for a long time and looks as wild as a buck.

Lightning struck the tree set out by the college class recently, during a rain on Monday, knocking the outside bark in every direction. It stands near the parsonage and preacher Rogers and his whole family were slightly shocked.

Nedius Goudlock, the negro who was shot recently by another negro, is improving and is able to be out again shooting his pistol off in the outskirts of the town and those who bet that he would die will be sure to lose. Whright, who shot him, has been bound over and committed to jail in default of a $400.

The daughter of James Adams, who run away with Oscar Roberts last week, has not returned home yet. He had Marshal Harbison to notify the officials at Gainesville to arrest them if they didn't marry, but a search was made and neither could be found.

We were told by a reliable person this week that while two preachers were carrying on a revival at Yahoola church in this county, they spent the night with one of the brothers. Next morning one of them enquired of the man if he had nothing to drink, and upon being told no, both pulled out before breakfast and went off to another house to dine. What do you think of this for a preacher? Do you believe he was called to preach?

We never heard of any one getting lost at a wedding until right recently. A few nights ago when the time was set for Luther Collins of this county, and Miss Mamie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bryson of Dawson, were to marry, two of Jud Welch's sons went with him to help steal the girl. When getting near the house they hid in the corn field. Collins went on to the house and got the girl. Both got scared and lit out for the corn patch but missed the boys and went on to the Squires house and were wedded while the two young men sit there in the corn field all night waiting until daylight drowns them away. All were scared for nothing because the girl's parents didn't even know their daughter had gone until they went to wake her up the next morning.

Fodder got down to the $1.60 notch in Dahlonega Wednesday.

Charlie Kerr, of Tennessee, is paying Dahlonega a visit this week.

W. H. C. Tate has returned from a two or three weeks visit to Tennessee.

Several of our citizens are attending the revival at Hamp's Chapel every night.

The general health of the people of Dahlonega has not been better in twenty years.

Mr. and Mrs. Collier and their daughter left Wednesday for their home in Atlanta.

Good home made sorghum at E. E. Crissens at 40 cents per gallon. Also car corn at 90 cents per bushel.

If you are in search of bargains it will pay you to step round to T. J. Smith's store. He will make it so interesting and beneficial to you that you will be sure to go again.

While the people of the West are almost burning up from the extreme heat, here in Dahlonega we have to sleep under a blanket nearly every night so as to be comfortable.

Dr. Matthews has a rattle snakes skin out of which he expects to make a belt. It will make a pretty one but we are too afraid of snakes to even wear a belt made from the skin of one.

Tom Bowers, of this county, was in town the other day with a pair of home made hames which have been in constant use for more than fifty years, made by the father of old man Bev. Sollins.

W. R. Shields of Columbus, O., who is interested in the Crown Mountain gold mine, came in this week and took a look over the property, and from all appearance well pleased.

A number of the streets are receiving attention by a crowd of hands under the supervision of Wash Jenkins, whose long experience of such work gives him a thorough knowledge of the business placed under his charge.

Mr. Breymann, the vice-president of the Consolidated Company, was unexpectedly called back to his home last Saturday on account of the sinking of one of his dredge boats. This makes two of Mr. Breymann's boats which have sunk within the past few months.

The pool at the Baptist church was completed last week and put into use for the first time Sunday afternoon. There is no way to supply it with water except by carrying it two or three hundred yards in buckets, like they used to supply the old fire engine here, making it pretty troublesome for the janitor.

We have had two or three propositions for the purchase of the Nugget lately. We will say now, so as to save any further trouble, that the Nugget is not for sale or to lease as long as we are able to work. It is paid for and it belongs to us individually and we do not owe a man, woman or child either dead or living a single copper for anything.

At a meeting of the directors of the stockholders of the Dahlonega and Gainesville Telephone Co. last Saturday in Dahlonega a dividend of 20 per cent was declared, and the repairs and improvements on it this year have cost more than one hundred dollars. This investment has proved to be a paying one, much better than was ever expected.

The suit of White Brady vs. The Consolidated Co. for $8,000 damages, was settled last week by the plaintiff receiving in all a little over $1,000. Mr. Brady received such injuries while at work for the company some time ago as to cause one of his legs to have to be amputated. We believe this ends all the damage suits pending in the Superior Court here against the company except that of James Thomas who alleges that he was hurt in the back while in its employ.

Kissing by telephone has got to be the latest in Dahlonega.

We filled another order for job work from Dawson county this week.

The other twin baby of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hightower died last Friday morning.

Green beans are very plentiful and are worth but little in this market. A farmer offered a wagon load for 20 cents per bushel the other day and couldn't get that.

Sheriff Davis and George Walker spent a night or two out in the mountains last week in search of Bob Long who murdered one of the Clarkes a few years ago, but they didn't get him.

James Wehnt informs us that he has a stalk of corn on the Judge Brittain's farm fourteen feet and eleven inches high. Since writing this Ike Reed tells us that he has many that measure 15 feet.

Mr. Bloomer, formerly of the Toledo (O.) News, also a member of the Consolidated Co., arrived in the city last week, accompanied by his wife, who will likely spend some days in our pleasant mountain city.

Meeting at the Dahlonega camp ground convenes next Tuesday. It came near flickering last year on account of many of the tent holders failing to be on hand. Don't know whether they will do any better this year or not.

Last Tuesday Mrs. M. Cain, who never fails to have a nice garden, sent us a tomato weighing 15 ounces, being the first we have tasted this year. In addition to this the kind old lady sent us the money for another years subscription to the NUGGET. Thanks.

A subscription paper was circulated the other day in the interest of one of the Edge boys who has been down sick out in the country for a long time, laying to ask for help. Quite a number of the laboring class rendered what assistance they could, but we failed to see a single persons name on it who take so much interest in the "poor heathens" welfare. We believe in looking after our home people first. It is reasonable to suppose that the Lord created the heathen and if He had wanted him wise He would have made him that way without any of our assistance.

The members of the Methodist church did intend for a while to enlarge their house of worship at this place but at a conference last week they abandoned this idea and decided to only recover and paper the building. This is a good conclusion. It will be time enough to enlarge the house when the membership and religion increases. Religion is not as strong in either one of the churches in Dahlonega today as it was years ago when the churches were smaller. Then if a member of the church undertook to serve the Lord and devil both he was tried and turned out. Now it is different. You never hear of a church trial.

The outgoing street committee this year at the expense of ten or twelve dollars to the town has had built on Clarksville St. below B. R. Meaders & Sons a "what you may call" in their memory. Should the general manager of foreign missions ever come here and see it he would never ask for another cent of money from Dahlonega to be sent off to the heathens. "Play houses" are built at and about some members of the council and even horse tracks that will hold water between certain ones houses and the church have to be filled up so they won't get their feet wet, while if many other persons get any needed work done they have to pay extra for it. We had to pay $2.00 extra to get the holes and gullies filled up in front of our office and we understand that Mr. Strickland had to pay $5 before they would fix his street. The mayor and two of the aldermen terms expire this year and we trust that their places will be filled with men who are public spirited enough to see farther than their own premises.

Mining Notes

We learn that week 43 soon to be resumed at the Bonning mine. By reading Mr. Maxwell's article on the first page you will get a true statement about the mining industry of this country.

As the constant readers of the Nugget know we give them a correct report of the mining operations of this section, let it be good or bad.

At least a hundred hands are at work now on the Crown Mountain canal up in Chestatee district, being cut for the purpose of increasing the water in case it is needed.

Time and again we have been promised one of those much talked of Bix machines, but we don't know whether one is ever seen here or not, as none have even been made for this or any other country yet.

The Georgia Cracker reports that H. D. Jaquish has struck it rich at the McCluskey mine in Hall county. 177 pennyweights of gold is the result of the discovery of a "pocket" the other day at one gathering. The ore taken out already is believed to be worth $2,000 per ton.

We learn that the Cane Creek placers, belonging to the Consolidated Co., are about to be leased to outside parties. This ground is regarded locally as one among the best investments the company holds. What's the matter with the company working it in the interest of the GENERAL stockholders?

It is reported that the Standard Co. has finished paying for the Dahlonega property, and expect to soon put the Singleton mill in operation. This will paid well on ones convenient to it before the property changed hands and will do so again if put in charge of men having practical knowledge of mining.

All the mines in the lower portion of the county keep up successful operation. Burns Bros. and others have rigged up a pump and gone to work on lot No. 39-43 belonging to Mr. Watkins of Atlanta, near Mr. Burns, which was discovered to contain gold in paying quantities some time ago while Birch Bros. were operating their dredge boat in the river on the property.

Lumpkin county is the only section where mining is being done by electric power. It has just recently been introduced and works perfectly satisfactorily, throwing water on-top of a mountain in plain view of this office more than 500 feet high, washing ore down to a fifty stamp mill below besides keeping two Huntington's running and a large supply of water for placer work.

It will be seen by an advertisement elsewhere that Birch Bros. for domestic reasons will sell their dredge boat in this county on the 3rd day of September at auction. This has been one of the best paying investments in the county. For years they have been taking out thousands of pennyweights of gold from the bed of the Chestatee river and it is still in operation. It saves the metal from that as fine as flour up to the largest of nuggets.

Things are moving along in a business like manner at the Crown Mountain, to the perfect satisfaction of every stockholder from the biggest interested to the least. Placer work goes steadily on both day and night while the Huntington's keep constantly revolving. Although they are doing "dead work" now and it will be about two weeks before they reach the apollite belt, the plates even this early show up nicely. It is hoped by the managers that they will have the 50 stamp mill running by the 20th.

One of the Breymann gold savers is being put in down at the Hand mine which we suppose will be in operation in the near future. Mr. Breymann is vice-president of both the Standard and Consolidated Companies. He still has great confidence in the mines of this section. Having already invested $75,000 in them here and says that he intends to put in more which we trust will bring him good results. Having a much more economical manager than the president of the companies, which goes a long ways in the conduct of a gold mine or any other business.

As stated heretofore the Consolidated Co. issued $175,000 worth of bonds for the purpose of securing money to pay off its indebtedness and for the further development of the property and placed them on the market, which, we suppose, have been sold to the Security Company of Toledo, O., as it has a trust deed to the Company's property for five years at six per cent interest, which is now on record in the clerk's office of the Superior Court of Lumpkin county. When they start up again we trust that past experience has been such a lesson to its owners as to cause them to put in charge men who understand mining in this country so it will pay.

Drifting still continues in shaft No. 1 at the Consolidated, making good headway. The services of a $2.50 per day foreman who sat at the mouth of the shaft has been dispensed with long since and the management put in charge of a man on each shift who boss and work both. They use less dynamite and do more good than they do just across the creek operated on the expensive plan by the Standard Co. One night last week we were told that at the latter shaft 140 pounds (nearly three cases) of dynamite were used with less results than at the other where they got through with less than a case. This is pretty expensive mining and if the Standard does much of this kind of work it will soon be in the same condition the Consolidated is—out of money. The Standard is in possession of splendid property and can make money if it is properly managed.

Doubtless a few people saw the article in last week's Signal about the Nugget and its editor. It was written by little Billie, its baby editor. Billie is not young in years but acts like a child and will never have nunny ways even if he lives to be a hundred years old. Neither does he imitate a man for his head looks more like a coconut stuck on a gate post, having received just enough free education to cause it to make a fool of him; being compelled to take vermifuge and colic medicine and be attended to by a nurse just like an infant. This is the kind of a thing writing about us, who knowingly and willingly publishes lies when the truth would answer a better purpose. When he gets on a drunk the only ones being able to stop him Punch and Judah month is Goodman Beck and Jim Harbison. Harbison is the marshal and Beck whipped him once. Not many months ago little Billie, while tanked up on liquor got to acting in an indecent manner on one of the sidewalks at night. Some one told him that Goodman Beck was coming and it scared him so that he had to be carried to the calaboose so he could be attended to in the usual childish manner. In the conduct of the Signal he is every ones foe who wishes to hunt with him. Either Messrs. Adams, Thomson or Col. Price can throw a sewing thread around his head, show him a copper and at the pat of their feet he will dance, prance and cut all kinds of monkey actions. And now since he has had a costly bathing suit made, trimmed with ten yards of white braid (bought on a credit) and false calves attached to his legs he presents a different appearance while enjoying himself two or three times a week out at Cane Creek falls, endeavoring to imitate a sea gull or swan in a lake, but can't make it. He looks more like one of those big bugs often seen around stable lots about the size and color of a June bug, floating around on the water. Gentle reader, excuse us for taking up so much time and space in this description and explanation. Even the smallest of insects have to be given attention some times.

CITATION.

State of Georgia, Lumpkin County: Whereas, certain petitioners have made their application to this Court, praying for an order granting the establishment of a new road commencing at the "Cooper Gap Road" about one-fourth of a mile of Two Run post office in Lumpkin county, and running from thence the old road bed a north-easterly direction to the Union county line at the "Ward Gap," and whereas commissioners appointed for that purpose have reviewed said contemplated road, and reported to me that said road will be one of much public utility and convenience. Now this is to cite and admonish all persons that on and after the 6th day of August, 1901, said new road will be granted if no good cause is shown to the contrary.

Given under my hand and official signature, this the 3rd day of July, 1901.

Heirs to Texas Oil Lands.

The great oil discoveries in Texas have caused active search for the unknown heir of the following early settlers of Texas and soldiers of the Texas Revolution of 1835 to 1840. Large tracts of wild lands, which have become very valuable, were granted by Texas Republic to such settlers and soldiers, which, on account of their death or disappearance, were never sold and still await claim of their heirs. Many of the neglected lands lie in the oil regions. Edward W. Goff, of Austin, Texas, sends list of such settlers and soldiers whose unknown heirs are entitled to the lands. He will give further information on request. The list follows: Samuel Alloway, Thomas Adams, H. B. Akles, Collier Barksdale, Augustus Baker, George Brown, Edwin Blake, Daniel Bourne, B. F. "The way to get rich," says an editor whose mind soars beyond the brink of eternity, "is to trust nobody, befriend none, get all you can and save all you get; to stint yourself and everything that belongs to you, and to be the friend of no man and have no man for your friend; to heap interest, contempt upon, to be mean, miserable and despised for some twenty or thirty years and riches will come sure as disease, disappointment and death. And when nearly enough wealth collected by a disregard of all charities of the human heart, and all the expense of every enjoyment, death will finish the work—the body is buried, the heirs dance and fight over what you have left and the spirit will go where? By all means get rich; it will pay—the devil."

The Cradle.

The cradle will yet remain in the home. The young mother will yet bend over it and rock her first born to sleep to the tune of soft and gentle lullabies, while her eyes will watch every play of feature on the little face and see wonderful meanings in every movement of the ruby lips, in every twitching of the facial muscles, in every blinking of the bright little eyes gradually closing in sleep under the magic spell of the gentle wooings of a mother's deep and deathless love. The years move on and the baby grows, and by and by it sits upright in the foot of the cradle, with its hands clasping the rim, while a baby brother or sister lies at the head, and it sways its body to and fro, imparting motion to the cradle in proportion to the loudness of the cries of the little one at the head, and sings and shouts and perchance has visions of galloping horses, rattling carriages or rushing cars. The scene is re-enacted as the years come and go, and the playhouse and the grapevine swing come in order, and later the rocking chair and the hammock, and the cradle is needed no more. It is stowed away in the lumber room, or the attic, and lies there through the on-coming years, covered with dust and wreathed in cobwebs, while the boys and girls, one by one, are growing into manhood and womanhood and going out from the old homestead to take their places in the battle of life; and the rockers of the cradle are still, until, in the course of time, the cradle is brought out again and set in motion for the first grandchild.

Let the cradle still rock, despite of all theories and protests, and let the hand that rocks it still soothe with its gentle, magic touch the aches and pains of infancy and childhood, and let the heart that yearns over it still love and pray and hope, for here are the perennial springs which supply the great river of life rising in the realms of the cradle and emptying into the abyss of the grave.—Gaffney Ledger.

Battle of Dalton.

On October 18, 1864. General Hood's army of Confederates attacked Dalton, then held by the Yankees, 1,000 colored troops commanded by white officers. The darbies defended it valiantly, but it was captured after a furious cannonade and a long military parley.

Gen. Hood's main army marched up Dug Gap road to a position in front of the present cemetery, the head of the column extending north beyond the cemetery and occupying the ground the soldiers are now encamped on—(Camp Davis). The Confederate artillery occupied the Cemetery Hill and engaged the artillery of Fort Hill.

At the same time Gen. Cheatham's (Confederate) command entered on east side of railroad below Dalton and charged up through Dalton to a position in front of and beyond Fort Hill and got into position to attack. Before this charge a furious cannonade had been carried on between Fort Hill and the cemetery batteries. The surrender of the fort had been demanded but refused. The white Yankee officers saw the futility of trying to defend the fort with such a small force but could not persuade the darbies to surrender. The darbies refused to pull down the flag and demanded a chance to defend the fort. The two armies were parleying over the surrender. By this time the whole army joined Cheatham and united in a grand charge on Fort Hill. The white officers had, finally, under severe threats from Gen. Hood formally surrendered the fort, but the darbies never did surrender, and with the flag sometimes up and sometimes down kept on fighting to the end—but had to give in when the final rush was made. The Confederates were greatly exasperated at the resistance of the darbies made and after the capture the colored troops tried to escape and many were not allowed to surrender. October 18, 1864.—Dalton Citizen.

The Red-Haired Girl.

Comes she at last to her own, to the throne of her inheritance, the high seat of which she was forced to abdicate by the blonde and brunette usurpers. Comes she as a star-crowned queen, full of light and love and beauty—not the auburn-haired or Titianesque or burnished, but the real old-fashioned red-haired girl, with head aflame, red as fire, red as sunset, red as blood, red as red can be; pulsing and palpitating with red.

A Costly Army.

The army of the United States, in proportion to its size, is the most expensive in the world. The cost per capita is from two to six times greater than the sums paid by any other power.

The total expended for the American army is $27,172,895 less than Russia pays for more than 7,000,000 men, or ten times the strength of the American forces, and $10,000,000 a year less than France pays for nearly 600,000 men.

Russia's soldiers costs her $155.15 per annum each, while each soldier in our army costs us $1,014.66 a year.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, AUGUST 9, 1901.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O. as Second Class Matter.

Roosevelt is Kansas City's choice for president.

Mrs. Dr. Felton is advocating compulsory education in Georgia.

Prof. Stewart of Dahlonega, lectured at Dawsonville Tuesday night.

W. E. Canning, of Gainesville, has a razor hone that is near 200 years old.

The melon growers of Georgia are getting $120 a car as against $20 last year.

Many persons were poisoned by eating ice cream at Leesburg, Ga., the other day.

The plan to bring Jeffreys and Rohlin to Savannah for a prize fight has been abandoned.

Ten cows were killed near Moultrie, Ga., the other day belonging to James Holmes by lightning.

Charlie Davis, a negro rapist was taken from court at Smithville, Tenn., the other day and hanged.

The numerous cases of scarlet fever in Cobb county have caused Acworth to raise a quarantine against it.

Sanford, the defaulting tax collector of Floyd county has made bond and demands an immediate investigation.

John Robinson is sentenced to be executed at Dublin, Ga., on the 22nd inst., for assaulting and killing a negro girl.

In the west they claim to be obtaining rain by firing of large cannon. If it effected the weather, during the civil war it would have been raining all the time.

A boiler of an engine exploded at Bolton last Friday killing fireman Aenebach and blowing engine Bell 40 feet into the air, but alighted on his feet unharmed scarcely.

That lady who recently married in Oklahoma couldn't wait it seems and preferred a husband to a claim worth from $20,000 to $30,000. Had she held up only a few days longer she would have been entitled to the claim she drew and a husband too.

Gambling of all kinds are prevailing in the newly opened country Oklahoma and hundreds of "hold-ups" are occurring. Water is scarce and selling at 50 cents per barrel and but little ice can be at even 34 cents per pound. There is much suffering among the home seekers. Those disappointed are selling their tents and horses and trying to get back home.

At the last term of Hall Superior Court the grand jury recommended that her city court be abolished. It will throw some one out of a job but it is well enough unless it could be run cheaper. The public square was also recommended to be sold and laid off into blocks. This will be a disadvantage to country people but some money to the proprietors of wagon yards.

A petition is being circulated to have the town of Cleveland surveyed, and a plat of it filed with the Clerk as the original plat has long since been lost, if there ever was one on file. Many of our citizens are now cultivating lots and streets not belonging to them and in some cases woodsheds, barns and stables have been built on the streets, and, perhaps, a dwelling-house—Courtier.

Two negroes were hanged in Georgia last Friday. One at La Grange and the other at Savannah. One was for murder and the other was for criminally assaulting two colored women near Savannah three months ago. Two men were also executed at St. Augustine, Fla., the same day. This is getting rid of the murderers and rapists pretty rapid and it continued will cause less lynchings, and maybe a warning to others.

Mining Notes

Bruce at the Whim Hill has some fine shows.

John Norrell, down at the Briar Patch, is doing well.

The mining outlook in Lumpkin county is very bright.

W. T. Bryson is getting some good shows on the Keystone.

At Turkey Hill Mr. Packard has five hands taking out some very rich ore.

Miller and Norrell, on the Briar Patch, made a clean up last week which was very satisfactory to all parties interested.

The work on the 50 stamp mill is rapidly nearing completion at Crown Mountain which will be put in running order within the next few days.

Down at the Betz mine they made a good clean up for the month just past, and by this time the gold is on its way to the owner at Philadelphia.

Hiram Gayden is engaged doing some prospecting work on the Stagg property making some excellent shows. It is said that this property has been sold.

Gen. Warner is so well pleased with the successful working of Crown Mountain gold mine by electricity that he is going to operate his mine in Cherokee the same way.

A lot of nuggets are being taken from the Chastee river by the Ashley dredge boat. A Tennessee gentleman procured several the other day to make pins for both ladies and gentlemen.

The Calhoun mine is very rich. They cleaned up again the other day and got a fine lot of nuggets besides a quantity of other gold. Beck and Loggins made about 60 pennyweights last week from a vein with a hand mortar.

The Birch Bros. boat still continues its successful work gathering up from the bed of the Chastee river much of the yellow metal both fine and coarse. At the last clean up they found among the nuggets one weighing a little more than half an ounce.

A correspondent writes us from Auraria as follows: "The report that 177 pennyweights were taken from the McClusky mine in Hall county is a mistake. It were made on the Bigby mine in Lumpkin county by Beck and Philyaw one mile from Auraria in Lumpkin county.

A few additional men have been put to work down on the Standard property this week preparing to get out the ore on the old Georgia plan—take out the pay stuff and let the other go—and later on we understand that the company intends starting the Singleton (20) stamp mill.

J. B. Beck and Philyaw are at work on the Bigby mine, owned by H. D. Jaquish, of Gainesville, and an old miner says that they are taking out some of the richest ore he ever saw. One small rock, half as large as a man's hand is supposed to contain 20 or 25 pennyweights of gold. Other parties in that vicinity are doing well.

Edgewood and Hutchins, who have been in the employ of the Consolidated Co. for some time, have decided to go to mining on their "own hook," having secured a lease on lot 810 adjoining the Briar Patch property, who will have a couple of giants running on the placer diggings within the next few days. A ten stamp mill is in position on the property which will likely be started in motion later on.

The working force at the Hand mine has been increased. Work has been resumed in the big tunnel taking out ore. Mr. Breyman's gold saving machine has been put up and in running order, and in a short time it will prove really what it is—whether it is of any benefit to the mining industry of this country or not. Besides this Mr. Breyman is going to take hold of the different mines and make a strong effort to realize the stockholders something. We wish him success in the undertaking, feeling confident that he will do so by strict economical and proper management.

The taxable property of Georgia has increased over $18,000,000 since last year.

Mrs. Dick Chatham, of Gainesville, who was bitten by a pet dog several days ago died with hydrophobia last Sunday.

The paupers home of Hall county contains 34 inmates, and the cost of food, clothing, medicine, etc., each is only $3.19 per month.

Twenty persons were killed in Philadelphia on Monday night during the wrecking of six buildings caused by the explosion of a barrel of gasoline.

A negro at Americus horribly beat his wife the other day and then rubbed potash on her face disfiguring her for life, and he is now in jail.

Gov. Candler ordered out 150 troops last Tuesday to take Raymond Ross, the negro rapist, to Canton for trial, who assaulted Mrs. Miller a few days ago. The jury made up their verdict in seven minutes and the defendant has been sentenced to be executed the 27th of August.

Capt. F. W. Hall, formerly of Dahlonega, but who has, within the past few months, made large investments in the neighborhood of Ingleside, has about completed the arrangement of one of the most perfectly appointed residences in the county. It has all the latest and most approved sanitary connections with bath room and basements the storage of all sorts of supplies needed for a country home. Captain Hall is a most affable gentleman and is an acquisition to the citizenship of any county—Declarator Standard.

Notwithstanding the weather is warm it doesn't interfere with the wool trade. Thirty-two thousand pounds were sold at Daughlass one day recently at 15 1/2 cents per pound.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, AUGUST 9, 1901.

Is your house insured? If not, why not?

Miss Susan McDonald is having her house repaired.

Can you afford to take all the risk of loss by fire or lightning?

The report that Hon. G. D. Bruce died in Oklahoma last Sunday is untrue.

Every lawyer in Dahlonega visited Dawson county court this week except Col. Price.

The refreshing showers this week have made many bushels of corn in Lumpkin county.

At John H. Moore's you can get beef as follows: Steak 10 cents per pound, roast 7 and 8, stew 5 and 6.

Dr. Wheelchell anticipates building a large two story brick building where his present little office now stands.

Capt. H. D. Ingersoll, who has charge of the Loud canal in White county, received a message Tuesday afternoon stating that 170 feet of the ditch had broken.

Representative Bruce writes us that he will be back by the first of October. This will give him ample time to rest up and tell us all about Oklahoma before the legislature convenes.

Col. Farrow was in Dahlonega a few hours Monday looking after his telephone. It got so it wouldn't work well but as soon as he discovered and removed a hub from the wire all trouble ended.

The wedding of Miss Odie Woody and Mr. Wm. Hollifield took place in the middle of the road the other day near the Key-stone mine. Esq. Hollifields performed the ceremony. This makes 43 he has joined together during his time.

The city council made Capt. Ingersoll and Capt. Hall extend or open out Water Street through their lots and at that time, besides the hog pound, built a public water closet in the same street. This not look very consistent to us. And besides this the mayor has a street enclosed according to the map.

At Bethlehem church last Sunday night there was said to be some lewd women on hand, and a good deal of drinking among those who attended church only to see and be seen. One pistol carrier shot off his little 22 near the church. This is nice conduct for young men, especially on Sunday. They have no respect for themselves, the Lord nor no one else.

The two weeks meeting at the Methodist church closed last Friday night with but one accession to the church. This is very poor encouragement for the minister who worked so faithful fortnight or fourteen days and nights. Preachers are like printers sometimes, receiving but few rewards for their services. The number of persons joining the different churches in Dahlonega this year is only 8.

Calvin Stover, of Fannin county, who has been working in the mines here nearly two years, was arrested and confined in jail last Friday on a lunacy warrant. The old gentleman is about 73 years of age and one of the stoutest men of his age we know of any where, being able up to his ill health to do as much work as any man, either young or old. Some time ago it was noticed that his mind was not right at times. He quit work and remained in town nearly all the time, cooking and eating in a little house on the premises of Prof. Gaillard. He imagined that some body wanted to kill him and went to and from his room often with a loaded pistol. People got afraid of him. Marshal Harbison swore out a warrant causing his arrest and confinement, and at the trial the jury failed to agree—7 for acquittal and the rest against. So he was turned loose and went home with his brother.

Miss Sallie Reid has returned home from an extended trip to Fannin county.

W. G. McNeelley came in last Wednesday in the interest of the Atlanta Journal.

The loss of a small piece of machinery on the railroad has caused a few days delay in the operation of Crown Mountain gold mine.

The Farrard house, down on Part Street has been bought by Tate, Littlefield & Co., which will be finished and put in good shape.

The splendid crop on M. J. Williams farm in Union county caused him to go over last week and make another purchase of land adjoining his.

Capt. F. W. Hall, of Ingleside, Ga., is up on a few days visit accompanied by his wife, who will remain long enough to have their household goods packed and shipped.

One of the members of the colored Baptist church has to make weekly trips out in the country in order to supply the demand for liquor of his race and some whites in Dahlonega.

The recent damages to the old Wimpy geist mill, belonging to the Consolidated Co., caused by rains, are receiving attention. We do not know whether it is their intention to put it in running order or just to fix it up so as to keep the house from washing away.

The city council wants the street in front of B. F. Anderson and Steven Rice's 90 feet wide, and the former wants the street by H. D. Garleys extended through the Consolidated property connecting with the back street which runs by where Mr. Anderson is going to build his store house. Whether a compromise will be effected or not we cannot tell.

A gentleman who attended the Sunday School celebration over in Union county at Mt. Zion church last Sunday informed us that it was a happy occasion. There were more than 300 people present and one of the biggest dinners ever heard of in that vicinity. Plenty to eat of the very best for all present and more too. Addresses were made by Hon. — Walker, Unions present representative and Reys. James Waters and Henry Garley.

The colored pastors of the Baptist and Methodist churches here, Fincher and Gordon, agreed to run a protracted meeting last week at the Baptist church and divide what money they collected. The amount was $5.00, brother Gordon receiving $1.75 of it. This ruffled his feelings and he went to the Methodist church tooted his horn, put on steam and is running a meeting of his own. So meeting will continue both churches as long as the money comes in—religion or no religion.

On last Friday the directors of the G. and D. Electric Railway Co., held a meeting in Price & Charters office and authorized the issuance of $750,000 worth of bonds to be placed on the market for the purpose of raising a sufficient amount of money to complete the line between the two cities. On the first of the week Gen. Warner, Judge Murray and J. F. Moore went down to Gainesville in the interest of the road. Soon afterwards the news reached us that they had procured the Dunlap water power and the railroad was a certainty. This caused us to begin to enquire about the matter and not being able to get any thing definite here we telephoned to a friend in Gainesville whose reply was, "it is certainly all right now." This was the most joyful news that ever passed over the telephone wire to Dahlonega, a message which will bring happiness to every household in Lumpkin county with a few exceptions—people who cannot realize the benefit of a railroad to Dahlonega. We understand that Gen. Warner will go east in a few days and you need not be surprised if work begins on the road within the next fifteen or twenty days.

Local notices inserted at five cents a line.

Mrs. A. L. Wimpy's new dwelling will soon be ready for occupancy.

Hardie Reese was jolted up considerably by falling from the Methodist church Wednesday.

Will Wright, the negro who recently shot Nelius Gouldlock, has made bond, signed by such men as Dr. Jones, B. R. Meaders, E. E. Crisson, J. V. Harbison.

Hall's Villa is no longer run by the Consolidated Co. It was leased on the first of the month to Mrs. Hubbard who has been running it for the company for some time.

Don't be too stingy to take your home paper. Be a man or a woman. Don't hang around until some one puts their paper down and be ready to grab like a hawk catching a chicken.

The pillars for the new bridge at Neisler's Ford are completed and ready for the bridge builders. The company has until the first of October to complete its work but we suppose that the bridge will be completed long before then, as we understand the material has already reached Gainesville.

The running of Crown Mountain gold mine by electricity is exciting the interest of people every where. The managers are now constantly receiving letters from leading newspaper men throughout the United States, requesting photographs of the plant, which are now being prepared by a photographer.

If the bathing season lasted all the year round Cane Creek falls would be a good place to establish a newspaper similar to the New York Police Gazette. Old married men holding some of the young ladies while they kick and dart about in the water like a sun perch would make very attractive pictures. We don't want to hear of them trying to appear like their modesty is shocked by any thing they see in newspapers any more.

We received a letter from Hon. G. D. Bruce, Lumpkin county's most able representative, last week who is now out in Oklahoma Territory watching the opening up of the new country, where liquor is about as plentiful as water. Mr. Bruce is fortunate in being close to one boomer who has a well which supplies plenty of water and is clever enough to sell him some at five cents a bucket. Our friend also sent us a copy of the daily Republican, a six column paper, which made its first appearance, published in a tent, at the newly located town called Lawton, on the 27th ult. It contains many interesting things concerning the excited people now in that section. Only two framed buildings in the place. Wholesale and retail stores and every other kind of business is done in tents, and every body has been or are there now except Sister Carrie Nation. Doubtless she will come in on the home stretch.

Mrs. Jack Townsend and Rose Holliday had a pitch battle down at the former's residence last Friday, in which the latter came out conquer. Mrs. Townsend went at her antagonist with a drawn case knife. This enraged Rose so that she soon had Mrs. Townsend down mauling away with her big fist without any mercy. Ben Whitmore in passing by saw what was up, who informed Miss Holliday if she didn't believe he would send the marshal down. The woman lit out after Ben and he made a safe retreat towards town. Rosette is now cock of the walk, although she left out and is now beyond the reach of City Marshal Harbison in some more peaceful clime, leaving several of her most favorite lovers here to mourn her departure. This woman is a perfect picture of health, weighing about 180 pounds in her stocking feet, clear of bustle or any kind of false doings generally worn by leaner females, plenty able to fight her way through the world without any assistance whatever.

It is reported that tax receiver Healan has the fever.

Dr. W. W. McAfee, of Atlanta, paid his relatives in Dahlonega a visit this week.

Ex ordinary Tate, who returned from Tennessee last week, informs us that the corn crop where he went—east Tennessee—is about burnt up.

A large number of Lumpkin county citizens are now engaged at work in the copper mines of Ducktown. Several went from this place only a few days ago.

The telephone line from Cleveland to Gainesville has at last been completed and the people of Dahlonega, can now say "Hello" to Cleveland whenever that get ready.

John Wheelchell came up from Anniston last week. The blow of a two hours hot wind there the other day caused him to leave out for the mountains where it blows cool and pleasant. He was accompanied by his wife.

Capt. Ingersoll does not like some of the other councilmen—have his side walk put in good shape while in office. He spent $18.00 on his walk, or the one in front of his house last year and is spending more on it now.

W. W. Holcombe, after residing here for more than twelve months, in the employ of the Consolidated Co., returned to his old home in Cherokee county last Sunday. He is a good old time religious man and we regret to give him up.

We publish on our first page the names of a large number of persons who have died in Texas, leaving valuable property in that state. Many of them went from Georgia. Look over the list. It may be that a fortune awaits you in the Lone Star State.

Judge Huff granted an order last Monday for the opening of a new road from Two Run, to the top of the Blue Ridge in this county, which shortens the distance from many places in Union county to Dahlonega some five or six miles.

An order was also granted allowing Mrs. John W. Tate a years support.

A petition has been sent off to the department asking that the mail route be extended from Gates to Walnut, in this county, so as to give the patrons of the latter office a mail three times a week from Dahlonega. As it is now they only get mail once a week and that if it is a week or ten days old.

Bob Long, who killed one of the Clark boys about three years ago, left out for a while but has recently made his appearance in his old neighborhood. Sheriff Davis has made several efforts to catch him but so far without effect. He was seen again last week and the sheriff was in hot pursuit but he sought a hiding place and could not be found.

The moving in of yard fences belonging to Stephen Rice and B. F. Anderson on Clarksville street, by the city council, will be stopped by an injunction. The papers have already been prepared, signed by Judge Estes and ready to be served at the proper time. Col. Baker represents Rice and Col. Huff represents Anderson. No city attorney has been named yet that we know of. Later—papers served. Case will be heard 3rd Monday in October.

M. G. Williams, who returned from Union county one day last week, informs us that they have a case of small pox at Polk Davis, near the line of Union and Fannin counties. His son Luther had been at work in the mines at Coal City, Ark., for about a year, and when the disease broke out there he left for home arriving on the train at Blue Ridge Sunday night, the 28th inst. When the young man reached home all were asleep and so confident was he that he was taking the small pox he went and slept in the stable loft without disturbing any one. Next morning when the father went to feed of her clothing had been torn from her body and their pocket book broke out with the disease. The young man was at once moved to an out house.

Some people are filling up on new blackberry wine and attending church—increasing their spiritual strength.

The protracted meeting at the colored Baptist church still continues. Enough have joined the church to cause the minister to work with renewed energy.

The building of Anderson & Jones store house has been awarded to Jess Chatten and Wm. Butler. It will be a large two story structure located on the street below J. M. Brookshers where B. F. Anderson's stable now stands.

Nelius Gouldlock, the shot negro, by not dying stands a good chance of landing into the chain gang next court if all reports are true. It is said he recently pulled out his pistol at the colored church and made one of Primo Anderson's boys leave the place.

All we need to have our city crowded with visitors every summer is a railroad. Every one visiting us is delighted with the climate but dread the 25 miles drive over rough roads in order to reach here. But in a short time we feel confident that they can be sent up from Gainesville by electricity.

Girls receiving letters from boys some times get caught up with by not destroying them thoroughly. The partially burnt one picked up on the street from John — to Alice — shows that they were not attending the meeting at the Methodist church last week with an eye of increasing the cause of religion but were getting in some mighty good work for the devil.

As we were coming to the office last Monday morning at 4 o'clock we felt pretty sure that we had found a dead negro lying in the ditch near the jail stable. We called him a time or two but he failed to answer. We went up and were just about ready to hold an inquest and start him out on his long journey when we heard him breathe, causing us to pass on without further molestation.

One of our citizens is being supplied with mineral water from Porter Springs every day as a test of its medicinal properties. Although the lady has not been using it but a few weeks it has had a wonderful effect in the improvement of her health. If this mineral water was bottled and put on the market it would do many a sick person more good than much of the patent medicines they are now using.

A large number of people attended the foot washing at Bethlehem church last Sunday. The house was crowded and nearly every member had their feet bathed—some one, others both—except one of the ministers, who had neither touched. It might have been that he was in the condition we were while out courting once—rockless—with feet too dusty to be turned loose in a crowd. People become very humble generally on these occasions. One good old lady after washing several of her church sisters feet wiped her mouth with the same towel she had been drying their feet with. If people could always be this kind and good to each other what a glorious time there would be.

The injuries sustained by Mr. and Mrs. John Carter, of Gainesville, by a wire on the Gainesville and Dahlonega telephone line recently, near Thompson's bridge, will likely cause a damage suit. They were driving along not noticing the fallen wire, when it struck the buggy top causing the horses to run away, tearing the vehicle all to pieces. Mrs. Thompson's throat was badly cut by the wire, drawing her from the buggy in such a manner as to cause two or three of her ribs to be broken. Mr. Thomson was also dashed to the ground but his injuries were less. Believing that his wife was dead Mr. Thompson ran off for assistance. The lady was unconscious for some time. A portion of her clothing had been torn from her body and their pocket book and things were scattered about generally.

Step in and see those nice, good cheap clocks at J. F. Moors.

That married man who goes counting these nights should wear a darker suit else the news might reach his wife's ears.

The other night we over heard a colored preacher instructing one of the brethren before going to church how to do in taking up a collection so as to get the most money. We judge from this that the negro has an eye more on money than he does for the salvation of his race.

The quarantine line on the Blue Ridge is causing the people of both sides of the mountain more trouble than they ever expected. Some 20 or 25 head of cattle from Union have been caught and em-pounded on this side while a few are "under arrest" on the other, causing the owners of each to lay themselves liable to prosecution. One man went after night into Union recently and brought his out.

The little ten-years-old boy of Rev. Jonathan Gilreath, of Union county, was bitten by a large rattlesnake the other day. The little fellow and his sister were some distance away from home when it occurred and she picked him up and carried him all the way to the house. The snake was under a rock. Soon afterwards they returned to kill it but it was gone. The next day the young lady went back and found the snake within four feet of where it had bitten her brother and she put an end to it. The use of Japanese oil externally and internally cured the boy.

The other night two young men, while attending church found all present except a certain young lady and her escort. They decided to go to her place of abode and see what was going on. When they got there the happy couple were asleep hugging and kissing to perfection while the rest of the family were away hearing the gospel preached. In slipping around the house to get a better view, for it was very interesting, one of the young men stepped on a great big dog. It gave the alarm and here the boys went and the dog right after them snapping at every jump, and just as they went to go over the fence the dog made a grab and took off that part of the pants which any man dislikes to lose.

Notwithstanding the records show that the street, which some of the members of the city council want through Capt. Ingersoll's yard lot was bought and paid for by Dr. Moody, the original owner of the lot, the mayor is now in search of the original charter of Dahlonega, to see whether its authorities had a right to sell any of the streets or not, which charter was granted in 1838. Also whether the Inferior Court was authorized by law to grant citizens on the public square the privilege of building their porches over the line on the public property. If we do not judge that those who have been enjoying this privilege so long will have to move off, pay damages and the money be used in improvements on Clarksville and Park streets.

Dahlonega camp meeting is now in session. The day fixed for opening it was last Tuesday but the weather was too wet that day to begin. The needed rains did more good than forty camp meetings like the Dahlonega could possibly do. The attendance so far has been very small and but little good could be accomplished. Minister Rogers has written to many of the preachers around to come and help him, and all have, some excuse for not attending, even the Presiding Elder. This leaves Mr. Rogers alone, with what little local help he can get, to do the best he can. Had it been for the purpose of taking up a collection for those not attending preachers none would likely have been absent. Some ministers have gotten to be like many other people—bait their mouth with a nickel and you catch their heart, and in failing to do this you can't even get a nibble.

Save Hay.

We would impress upon our farmers the importance of saving every pound of hay possible this fall. And by all means to be economical using their grain crops. News from the West, the great grain and hay producing section of the Union isn't merely unfavorable, but actually distressing. The latest reports from there say that scarcely anything will be made. The long drought and hot winds have parched all manner of vegetation, and the people tremble at the desolation.

Our farmers must look out for their supply of hay and grain this year for next, for the West will not be able to supply it. And what an occasion it is for saving some extra for market and realizing handsome prices for it. — Ex.

The laws of health require that the bowels move once each day and one of the penalties for violating this law is piles. Keep your bowels regular by taking a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets when necessary and you will never have that severe punishment inflicted upon you. Price 25 cents. For sale by The Matthew's Drug Co.

A rare phenomenon attended an earthquake that visited a little town in Mexico recently. Having wrecked several houses in the town the tremor passed on to a lake in the neighborhood, the waters of which it put into violent agitation. The agitation ceased after a few minutes, and then the water gradually disappeared, leaving the bottom of the lake exposed, when it was seen that the earthquake had opened a fissure in the bottom, and thus drained it.

"My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhoea," says J. H. Doak, of Williams, Oregon. "We were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale by The Matthew's Drug Co.

THE CROWN MOUNTAIN GOLD Mining & Milling Co.

The Crown Mountain properties are situated in the very heart of the Georgia gold belt and is in the leading center of all the leading gold veins of the Dahlonega district. They embrace what is believed to be the mother lode of the Appalachian Range.

The extensive and rich ore bodies in sight upon these properties assure long continues mining operations and the indisputable guarantee of the permanent and increasing value of the stock of "The Crown Mountain Co."

The projectors of this company were the first to revive the mining interest in this district in 1896. After three years of careful and exhaustive examination of all the mines of the district of reputation as gold producers, and they had the choice of all, they selected the Crown Mountain combination as the ideal gold mine of the district which would yield or produce the most gold with the least expense. This opinion is shown by all the mining engineers, mining experts, miners and citizens of any standing in the district who are familiar with the properties. As an evidence of this we here state that more of the citizens of the town of Dahlonega and vicinity have taken stock in this company than have in all the other companies combined that have organized in this district.

The company is to be managed by practical business men—who have given much of their time to mining and mining operations, and always with unvarying success.

The present directory is for the most part composed of men who have had much experience in the mining enterprises, and under its efficient and economical management, and by reason of a visible gold supply that is practically inexhaustible, an investment in the stock of this company is undoubtedly safe. The capitalization of the company is not commensurate with the visible productiveness of the properties and is meagre compared with the capitalization of other justly celebrated mines in the district, but the management believe it will be able to make the stock worth above par.

We invite all prospective investors to make a personal inspection of the mines. We also invite them to examine all the other mines in the district—compare the quality and quantity of the ore and the facilities for economically treating the same. We have no fears of where the choice will fall.

A Pathetic Incident.

"I saw a pathetic thing at the meeting of Confederates in Memphis in May," said one of the young men who belongs to the Louisiana division, Sons of Veterans, "and it impressed me with the great reverence for a flag which we find in human nature. Of course, there is nothing new about the love one may have for the flag of one's country, but the scene I have in mind was particularly pathetic because, probably, of its historic grouping and the singular sadness of the Confederacy. Hanging from a pole that projected over the sidewalk on Madison st., the central street of the city, was a huge flag which had gone through many of the fierce battles of the sixties. It was torn and tattered and full of holes, made by shot and shell during the war. But for an inscription which it bore one might have thought it merely a stained bundle of rags run out on the pole for the amusement of the idle curious. But across the flag was written in bold letters, 'One Hundred and Fifty fourth Tennessee.' And above the inscription was a large picture of Leonidas Polk. An old confederate who passed along Madison street stopped when he reached the point where the flag had been hung. He looked at the flag for sometime. The expression of his face changed and he seemed to forget the crowd that jostled by him. He was, perhaps, reviewing the campaigns of Polk and the many bloody skirmishes through which he and his comrades had passed in the sixties. After he had looked at the flag for some time he walked up close to it, felt it, and then with the faded and almost colorless shreds he wiped away the tears that filled his eyes and walked silently down the street towards Confederate headquarters." — N. O. Democrat.

V. T. Sanford tax collector of Floyd county is charged with embezzlement to the tune of $31,249.12.

"Through the months of June and July our baby was teething and took a running off of the bowels and sickness of the stomach," says O. P. M. Holliday, of Denning, Ind. "His bowels would move from five to eight times a day. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house and gave him four drops in a teaspoonful of water and he got better at once." Sold by The Matthew's Drug Co.

Why Should Boys Leave?

"Why do the boys leave the farm?" wails a writer in an agricultural journal. Well, dear brother, there are several reasons. An exchange tells us that one reason is because the boy is not sixty-five years old at his birth.

Then, if there is a hoe on the farm weighing fourteen ounces, bright as nickel plate and sharp as a razor, and another hoe weighing somewhat less than a breaking plow, with an edge on it like a hammer, and a sapling with the bark on it for a handle, the hired man takes one and the boy the other. Did you ever stand with such a hoe in your hand away down in the corn row on some airless, hot summer day, twenty acres of corn blades and tassels wilting about you, standing fourteen inches higher than your head, shutting out every trace of breathable air, then you hear a locust down in the edge of his timber strike up his long, strident, monotonous call to make it ten times better? And all this time a cool creek not a mile away, loitering in deep, silent pools in shady places in the woods, or breaking into merry ripples over pebbles, and the big, deep holes the fish just lying around lonesome for a boy? Well, then, you know why some boys leave the farm. Still, boys can be kept on the farm and made to stay there all their lives. You drive a long spike through a boy's abdomen and through a live oak tree, and cinch or bolt it on the side, and then saw the boys legs and break his back, and he will stay on the farm. Yes there are some other ways, we know, but this is only infallible method. — Durham Sun.

Camp meeting at Lumpkin embraces the 4th Sunday in this month. Many people used to attend from Dahlonega but now it is a rare thing to see a dozen or so. The last time we were there a man's saddle was cut up and much other mischief done. We decided that it was a strange way to serve the Lord but still the meeting goes on and all seem to enjoy it.

What most people want is something mild and gentle, when in need of a physic. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets fill the bill to a dot. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by The Matthew's Drug Co.

Attention, Young Men!

The state, recognizing the necessity of your obtaining an education, has established at Dahlonega, a college where you can have the advantage of a $40,000.00 equipment and a faculty, each man a specialist in his department. Tuition is free and board is only $8.00 a month in Dormitory. It is your college, built for you, supported by you, and stands ready to help you. It is not a town school but a real college, being one of the five male colleges of the state. It costs no more to go to a real college than to one only in name. Don't cheat yourself by going to a school without library or scientific laboratories. Lumpkin county boys and girls should attend by the score. The county needs educated men and women. Invest your money in brains. Don't delay longer.

J. S. STEWART, Pres.,

The Editor of the Whiteville, (Mo.) Banner was justly indignant when he wrote the following: "The fellow whom we gave the nicest kind of a wedding notice has best us out of a year's subscription. Perhaps all the nice things we said were all darned lies. We don't know."

Beware how you speak of a woman's character. Think how many years she has been building it, of the toils and privation endured, of wounds received and let not suspicions follow her actions. The purity of woman is the salvation of the race, the hope of future greatness, the redemption of man. Wipe out her purity and man sinks below the ways of despair with not a step to guide his life into a channel of safety. Think before you speak and remember that any hog can root up the fairest flower that ever grew; so the vilest man can ruin the finest character. — Marietta Journal.

Gen. Clement A. Evans has returned from a visit to the state farm near Milledgeville. He reports that the farm is in a most prosperous condition and that all the crops look well. He thinks that the farm will make about 200 bales of cotton this year, and approximately 10,000 bushels of corn, besides large quantities of oats, potatoes and everything else. The live stock at the farm, he says, is increasing very rapidly and that there are now there over a hundred head of cattle.

The Slanderer.

It has been said that a lie will encircle the earth before the truth gets ready to start. There is nothing that winds its flight with such rapidity as slander. It is eagerly listened to. Wildly dispersed. Slander looks into mind of some people as water soaks into marsh and becomes stagnant and offensive to all who come near it. The tongue of a slanderer is tireless and never seems to want for material upon which to keep its self employed. It effervesces with eloquence and seeks for an opportunity to blight the hopes of the noble minded, smirch the reputation of the pure, or to break down and destroy the character of the brave and strong. No soul well attuned to the harmony of things that makes for truth and righteousness can ever take delight in slander.

It indicates the need of morality, a tendency towards the lowest degree of manhood, and utter depravity, and proves that somewhere away down in the soul there is a fountain of evil which the sunshine of a christian civilization can not dry up, nor can education and refinement sweeten its bitter poisonous waters. If the slanderer had any judgement he would see that no man or woman can elevate themselves by trying to debase and depreciate those above them. But on the other hand, a degree of their vile uncalculated lies will recoil upon them and sink them lower and lower until they are overwhelmed with their own foulness, and finally if they keep on, land them in that lake that burns with fire. We must admit that the purest virtue is stained to some extent, and the purest character is tarnished by the blighting breath of the evil tongue slanderer for a while. Just as the constant exposure of gold to the atmosphere will decrease its luster, but upon close inspection the real value is found to be the same, and unchanged in either case. The sins of the tongue can never be recorded and therefore the full punishment can never be meted out to it. But instead of evil words we should speak kindly of one another or not at all. If people were as ready to speak of the good they see in others as they are of the evil what a blessed thing it would be. Always speak kind, or not at all. Kindness is the purest expression of the human heart. It always wins friends where ever evil may be.

Kindness doesn't mean the expenditure of money or any thing of the kind. Kindness glitters in the tears shed for others, it is revealed in the tone of voice that expresses sympathy in times of trials and troubles. Kindness is the sun shine of life. It does not consist in precious gifts, but in the gentleness and generosity of a loving spirit. The gift of money flows from an ample open purse. Kindness from the depth of a living heart. Solomon said "Pleasant words are as an honey comb, sweet to the soul and health to the bones."

SALLIE REID,
August 10th 1901.

Sunny Slope, Cal. enjoys the distinction of being the largest vineyard in the world. It is situated amid the most beautiful scenery of that favored land, two miles from San Gabriel. Of a total of 1000 acres, 735 are devoted to grape-vines, the remainder being distributed among orange trees, of which there are 12,000; lemon and olive trees.

Man and His Troubles.

Man that is born of woman is of few days and full of microbes. He hopeth out of bed in the morning, and his feet are pierced with the tack of disappointment. He walketh the streets of the city in the pride and glory of his manhood, and slippeth on the bunnapool of misfortune and unjoineeth his neck. He smoketh the cigar of contentment, and behold! he is exploded with a loud noise, for it is loaded. He sliddeth down the banister of life and encounters many splinters. He lieth down to sleep at night, and is stung by the mosquitoes of annoyance, and his frame is gnawed by the bed bug of adversity.

What is a man but the blind of worm fate? Behold! he is impaled upon the hook of despair and furnisheth bait for the leviathan Death in the fathomless ocean of time. Sorrow and travail follow him all the days of his life. In his infancy he is afflicted with worms and colic, and in his old age he is afflicted with rheumatism and ingrowing toenails. He marryeth a cross-eyed woman because her father is rich and findeth that she has not sense to fry eggs. His father-in-law then monkeyeth with cotton and goeth under.

What is man but a wart on the existence? He playeth the races and betteth his all on the bobtail horse because he hath received a tip, but the softregladdening winneth by a neck. Behold! he runneth for office and the deadbeat pullet his ever and anon, and then voteth for the other man. He exalteth himself among his people and swellth with pride, but when the votes are counted he findeth that his name is mud. He boasteth of his strength in Israel, but is beaten by the red-headed man from the Bloody Third. He goeth forth to breathe the fresh air and meditate upon the vanity of all earthly things, and is accosted by a bank cashier with a sight draft for five hundred dollars. A political enemy lieth in wait for him in the market place and walketh around him crowning like a cock.

Verily, man is naught but a bump on the nose of nature, a bunion on the toe of time—a freckle on the face of the universe.

An Extinct Town.

The Wehawitchka News gives the following account of the present appearance of the old town of St. Joseph, once the most flourishing seaport of Florida: At old St. Joe millions of brickbats and whole brick mark the site of the town that once had from 5,000 to 15,000 inhabitants. The only inhabitants, we saw where about fifty head of cattle and a pair of sandhill cranes. Yet this place, back in the 30's and 40's, was the most important place in the state. It was here the first Constitutional Convention was held, and came near being the capital of the state. Yellow fever in the early 40's depopulated the town and from that time on it went down. Many of the houses were moved to Apalachicola. We visited the old cemetery and found many graves, but only ten with inscriptions to identify them. The vaults, made of the best brick, had been opened and bones can be seen. The fences around the graves had fallen down by fire burning the posts, yet today, some sixty years afterward, the pickets are sound as a dollar. From all reports, St. Joseph was a wide-open town, gambling in sight on Sunday as well as week days, and it is said there was not a church in the place.

Italian Girls Never Flirt

In Italy, according to Marchesa Theodoli, who writes about "What Girl-life in Italy Means," in The Ladies Home Journal for August, there is plenty of love-making, but not between the young people of the higher social class. Among lower classes the youths are free to please themselves, and there is no lack of furious love-making, seasoned with jealousy, estrangements, peacemakings, tears and smiles, as Mother Nature intended it to be. But there is no flirting. Love is taken very seriously, and on the girl's side, at least, is indulged in with marriage as the end in view. Flirting for the sake of amusement, simply to while away the long summer days or as mild stimulant at balls and parties, with no idea of matrimony in the back ground, is a kind of sport which has not yet reached us from beyond the Alps. We are so far behind the times that to grant the slightest privilege to a man who has not avowedly shown that he means marriage would be considered downright dishonest by a respectable Italian girl who is not married at thirty will remain in the same dependent state as at seventeen. She would no more think of walking the streets alone paying a visit or traveling from the city to the country without a companion or a chaperon than she would think of choosing her own clothes and dressing as she liked best. Not even at that mature age would she choose a husband for herself without the approval of her family.

The wooden church, with tower and spire, built for the members of the Baptist Communion of Santa Rosa, Cal., was built from the wood of a single tree. All the timber required for its erection was taken from a single redwood tree that grew in the neighborhood. The interior of the church was paneled and finished with wood, and not a particle of plaster or other similar material was used. Moreover the floors, seating, pulpit, roof and ceiling were all formed from material taken from the same tree, and after the church building was finished in every particular, stuff enough was taken from the tree to manufacture 60,000 shingles besides a large quantity of scantlings, joists and other fittings.

Ex. The plans for the new state normal school building are being drawn by Architect Norman, of Atlanta. The building is to cost $25,000, and is to be erected in the fall.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, AUGUST 16, 1901.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O. as Second Class Matter.

Keep your eye on Dahlonega and watch her rise.

A telephone line is being built from Cleveland to Nacoochee, Ga.

Scarlet fever has again broken out at Canton, Ga.

The sale of fertilizers for the season has been nearly 90,000 tons more than last year.

The first bale of new cotton in Georgia by a negro proved to have old cotton in it.

Nine of Atlantans business men were bound over last week to the state court for selling cigarettes to minors.

The body of a negro was licked up by the flames of a mob near Enterprise, Ala., for assaulting a white woman last week.

Carrie Nations husband has sued for a divorce. He alleges that the temperance crusader has neglected her family duties and abandoned home.

Sixty girls at the summer camp near Catskill, N. Y., were poisoned last Friday by partaking of canned beef; not the canned variety, however. All will get well.

Atlantas police force will be cut down nine men due to the fact that funds are running short. This will give the thieves and pickpockets of that city a wider territory to work in.

John Pace, a Baptist minister, of Campbell county, has been sent to the chain gang for twelve months. Six white cappers have also been sent to the gang for killing a negro.

At Clayton, Ala., the other night a negro preacher not being able to regulate his church members by words took out his pistol and killed one of the congregation and wounded another.

It cost the state just $800 to try the negro Raymond, guilty of rape at Canton as estimated by Gov. Candler, due to 150 soldiers being called out, which is said to be useless by the citizens of Cherokee county.

Jack Winters has confessed that he stole the $280,000-worth of bullion at San Francisco and threw it in the bay where the mud is four feet deep. Much of it has already been found. He said he did it alone making fourteen trips.

Reubin Nix, of White county, visited Dawson recently with a pair of knucks. At the last term of the Superior court of that county it cost him $42.25. Some leading citizens here, who it is said carries knucks should take warning by this and throw them away unless they think they have a good deal of spare change.

We have been out of politics for several years, but if we live to see next January we expect to enter again, not that we want any office, for the NUGGET is good enough for us and we don't expect to desert it until we are called to rest. The track we expect to take will be announced with the beginning of the new year.

Last Sunday night at Indian Springs sixteen prominent sports of Macon, Savannah, Augusta, Atlanta, Montgomery and other points were caught gambling and as soon as 12 o'clock came were fined by the Judge right on the spot—all amounting to $1,600, but they were too nice for the papers to give any of their names. Justice, where art thou?

W. A. Saunders, a gray haired veteran of the Soldiers Home in Atlanta was put under military arrest the other day for disobeying the superintendents orders. Some allowance should be made for these old veterans. They are aged and feeble and should not be expected to live up to the military rules like they did when younger and more active.

Mining Notes

For several days Mr. Bloomer has been assisting in putting up vice-president Breyman's gold saving process down at the Hand mill during the inventors absence. A test has been made and we are glad to learn that it gave much better results than were expected.

We are informed by the management of the Crown Mountain Gold Mine and Milling Co. that it started its big plant yesterday and everything was working nicely till a casting on its big pump on the Chestate river broke this necessitating shutting down the entire plant, as ore cannot be sluiced to the mill until a new casting can be got which was telegraphed for at once.

We notice in the recent report of the assistant state geologist that no mention was made of Lumpkin county's valuable soapstone. There is abundance of it on property a few miles east of Dahlonega belonging to F. H. Kennedy, of Roxbury, Mass., who we see from a report in the Manufacturers' Record is preparing to introduce suitable machinery and work it on a more extensive plan. A quarry has been open on it for years and much valuable soapstone taken therefrom.

Last Friday we had the pleasure of seeing the clean up made recently by superintendent, Jim Hughes, down at the Beltz near Auraria, which was brought to the bank. It weighed five pounds after being thoroughly cleaned, made on a Huntington mill, one that has been in use many years. Of course we didn't handle it much for fear that it might make us sick like it did Mr. Hix when he ran Jim Witt's Dahlonega ore through his gold sayer in Indiana and got eight hundred pennyweights of pure gold.

The Crown Mountain canal up at the power plant will be just about completed this week. The dirt work was finished up last week and all the hands were dismissed except enough to do the rock work and finish up another smaller ditch. Mr. Fry has been in charge of all this work. He will now be ready to come down and take charge of the mill by the time the stamps are put in motion. Mr. Fry has much experience in both Western and Georgia mining, having sufficient judgment to know that it won't do to try to work Georgia mines by the Western system.

Mr. Ikes, a member of the Consolidated Co's mine is moving along about as usual—drifting in one shaft and taking ore out of the big tunnel. About the same on the Tahloneka, generally known as the Singleton. The property has recently been paid for and they can now work it as they see proper. It is good property. J. F. Moore, the present general manager of the Crown Mountain mine, made the Singleton pay well all the time he worked it, up to the time it changed hands, and its present owners can do likewise if they will put a man in charge with practical mining knowledge.

Last Saturday we had the pleasure of meeting our friend and patron, Mr. Packard, of the Turkey Hill gold mine, who met us with a silver dollar in his hand for another years subscription to the NUGGET. Mr. Packard neither has to borrow or beg a newspaper. He has a gold mine which is paying him sufficient dividends for the old gentleman to have every thing he wants and more too, even if he possessed no other means. Recently he struck the Lawrence vein which was discovered by a negro before the war belonging to Wm. Lawrence. The large pieces of ore shown us were perfectly speckled with the yellow metal, which alone would be a big gold mine but he has a number of other valuable veins opened up besides much good placer diggings.

We are exceedingly sorry that a casting at the big pump of the Crown Mountain Co. gave way yesterday, necessitating the closing down of the plant until a new casting can be had. The plant is complete in every particular and worked nicely. The mine is opening much richer than the most sanguine had anticipated. On yesterday in one of the open cuts being made by giants a large vein of ore was cut showing free gold nicely.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, AUGUST 16, 1901.

Is your house insured? If not, why not?

Trunks and valises at J. H. McKee's and some special bargains in dry goods.

We are indebted to Capt. F. W. Hall for a file of several volumes of the Dahlonega Signal.

We are informed that Mrs. Jones, formerly of this place, was wedded recently to B. B. Arthur in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., are registered at the Dahlonega Hotel this week.

Anderson & Jones have commenced building their new store house. Let the good work continue.

Capt. Cusick, who is in charge of the military department of the N. G. A. College, returned last week after a short absence from Dahlonega.

We regret to see that W. C. Moore has had to give up his position in his brothers store until he sees if he can't recuperate his health a little.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Crawford, of Blue Ridge, parents of the cashier of the bank at this place, were here on a visit this week. Mr. Crawford gave us a pleasant call Tuesday.

R. F. Whelchel also joined the city council from making a street through his lot last week in front of his house. Some of the council say a street used to run through there. If so it has been many years ago, as large trees have grown up and died where the street is said to have run.

During Charlie Singleton's recent visit from Dahlonega to Mascot, Tenn., he lost his pocket book containing over $50. As soon as he discovered his loss he telephoned the conductor about it, and Saturday when receiving a message from this conductor he put on a different appearance, which is enough to make any body feel glad.

The mayor of Clarksville notified Will Owens last week that his wife was in jail and for him to come and get his children, which he did. Owens and his wife separated in Dahlonega some time ago and he at once commenced suit for a divorce. There are now two warrants against her here for selling liquor in this county before she left, the solicitor telling the sheriff to let her alone if she would stay away.

Capt. E. W. Hall will depart for his home at Ingleside, Ga., in a few days, having sold all the interests he has in Dahlonega and Lumpkin county. The Capt. came to Dahlonega about 34 years ago and by strict business methods accumulated a fortune right here in this city where some people claim of hard times. We regret that Captain Hall has saw proper to take up his abode elsewhere for his presence will be greatly missed in many public enterprises.

The Dahlonega camp meeting closed last Monday morning and we hope that some good was accomplished for Mr. Rogers worked mighty hard. So much so that he gave out Sunday night and had to go to his tent. He had only closed a two weeks meeting here a few days before the one at the camp ground commenced and it was a hardship on him. He is a good man and if he is not rewarded for his labors here he will be sure to receive it above. Every thing passed off quietly, although some drinking of whisky and wine occurred. Two ladies run a foot race, and a number of persons would go down to the falls and take a bath after the 3 o'clock services nearly every day, causing all, sinner and saint, both great and small, to enjoy the outing at the camp ground. Mr. Rogers was assisted by Revs. N. F. Howard, J. N. Austin, Taylor Dowdy and John W. Rider.

Can you afford to take all the risk of loss by fire or lightning?

Prof. J. M. Martin and his sister will arrive in Dahlonega Saturday.

Arrangements are about to be perfected to build a telephone line from Dahlonega to Auraria.

If you wish to buy some nice large pictures already beautifully framed go to H. D. Gurleys.

Another meeting is now in progress at the Baptist church. It commenced last Sunday night.

We have received notice that the confederate reunions will be held in Gainesville on the 23rd inst. instead of the 20th.

Prof. A. W. Cain of Dawsonville's High School, was up shaking hands with his many friends in Dahlonega last Saturday.

Smith Harris, who graduated at the N. G. A. College at the last term, came up from Hall county and took in the camp meeting last Sunday.

Attorneys Gaillard, of Gainesville, and Crag, of Atlanta have been up on a visit since our last issue mixing and mingling with their numerous friends here.

Just before going to press we regret to learn that Rice Arrendale, one of Lumpkin's oldest citizens died suddenly at his home near Auraria on Wednesday night.

The Dahlonega camp meeting was a big thing for liverymen and every fellow who had a mule or a horse last Sunday financially speaking. Some teams made so many trips that they gave out the last night.

The pet rooster of our friend John B. Thomas, of the Dawsonville Advertiser, jumped up on his shoulder the other day and began to peck. The result is Bro. Thomas is yet carrying one eye in a sling.

About 12 months ago Henry Underwood, col., lost his pocket book containing $10. Some time afterwards Ed. Austin told Charlie Hunter that he found it and tore up the pocket book. When Ed. was accosted by the loser he said that he was only funning. So he was arrested and put in jail on Monday. Tuesday at 4 o'clock Ed. had his trial before Squire W. J. Worley and was acquitted as there was no corroborating testimony.

David Garrison, together with his family and some friends from Jackson county, visited Dahlonega last week, being out in the mountains on a little outing. Mrs. Garrison, nee Miss Anna Chastain, was born and reared in Dahlonega and this is the first time she has visited the city in about 21 years. While here she went up and looked about awhile where she used to live on Capt. McAfee's lot, bringing back many childhood thoughts.

On Monday last U. S. Deputy Marshal Grizzle arrested J. P. Forest, who is charged with making liquor both in Gilmer and Union counties and lodged him in jail until he got ready to leave with him. Forest came to Dahlonega only a short time ago. On Wednesday Forest was bound by his father's testimony alone. Some time ago old man Forest was charged with owning and operating a still in another county. After his son fled he swore that the still belonged to him. After young Forest was arrested the old man's testimony was all the officers wanted.

In the colored church matter last week we gave the Methodist side. Now we will state what the Baptists have to say. Isaac Rucker, one of the leading members, says that their preacher invited Gordon, the Methodist minister, to preach because it was his day, and that he was to give him a portion—not half—of what he got. Rucker says that he and Billy Riley took up a collection and received $5.10, $3.75 of which was given to their pastor, Fincher, who handed Gordon $1.75, nearly half of what Fincher received. Gordon says that last week's statement was perfectly true.

Col. Price visited Athens this week on railroad business.

It is rumored that one of Dahlonega aldermen is going to take unto himself a partner for life soon.

Mr. Adams, president of the Consolidated Co., came in the first of the week and spent a few days in taking a birds eye view of the Hand mine.

The Peruna all gave out last Saturday long before night, causing the participants to have to fall back on wine in order to "wet up their whistles" for camp meeting.

G. W. Hearns, of Bellyville, and his friend Mr. Brawton, of Bonanza, were in Dahlonega a few days last week for the first time, being the guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Meaders.

The heavy rains of Tuesday night raised the river so that Birch Bros. distress whistle commenced blowing at 4 o'clock the next morning, being the first time that we have heard it this year.

The names of several persons who were drinking at the Dahlonega camp ground were taken down by parties last Sunday for the purpose of giving them to the next grand jury.

J. L. Pierce, of this county, in addition to paying a year's subscription in advance, presented us with a large delicious water melon last Tuesday for which we again return thanks.

Prof. James Miller, who left Union county a number of years ago to seek his fortune in Texas, is back on a visit to relatives in both Union and Lumpkin counties. He graduated after going to the Lone Star State, went to teaching school and has been doing well.

The railroad is coming and if you want a nice, comfortable residence convenient to the depot and business portion of the city, call on or address the editor of this paper, who will sell you a quarter of an acre lot with a nice, well painted two story dwelling thereon with four rooms, a dining room and kitchen, good well water, etc., now occupied by A. N. Asbury belonging to B. T. West.

The many friends of Prof. J. P. B. Allen in Dahlonega will be glad to know that he has recently been elected professor of English Language and Literature in the South Carolina Co-Educational Institute at Edgefield, S. C., one of the largest institutions of learning in that state. His wife also has a position in the Voice Culture Department of the same institution. Twenty-three teachers are engaged in this college.

The worst conduct we ever heard of at a church in any civilized community occurred at Pleasant Ridge 3 miles east of Dahlonega last Sunday night while Rev. J. W. Phillips was preaching, the participants being Will Rail, Will Adams, Senior Jess Satterfield, Jess, Bud Blackwell, and Jim Rail, all under the influence of blackberry wine. While the minister was praying they would holler "Amen, Oh Lord," and continued after the prayer ended. Then some of them went into the pulpit with rocks and told the minister they had enough of his preaching, causing some of the congregation to leave. Preacher Phillips said to them that he would procure a warrant for each the next morning. They told him to go that night. He took them at their word and came in about 12 o'clock and went before Squire Allen and got it. The sheriff and Geo. Walker soon afterwards went out and arrested Will Rail, Satterfield and Adams, one of them being asleep in the church and lodged them in prison. They were brought out the next day, and upon waiving examination were committed to jail in default of a $200 bond each. Again we repeat, send no more money off for missionary purposes until their is no use for it here. Jim Rail and Bud Blackwell have not yet been arrested. Satterfield has since given bond.

Call around at Bruce's gallery if you wish any nice photographic work done upon short notice and at reasonable prices.

The price of meal is advancing in Dahlonega again on account of the short crops in the West. It sold without any drag at 95 cents per bushel last Saturday.

Between Dahlonega and the Briar Patch can be seen a man and his wife working in the gold mines every day. Both are growing old but they can yet make enough gold to support them.

Another postoffice is wanted over in Shoal Creek district, and both Scott Stringer and Mr. Owen are wishing to be appointed postmaster—both having stores and reside within a mile of each other.

A young man from Dawson county while in merchant Gurley's store Monday bought a box of sandwiches and sat down on a sheet of tangle foot fly paper while eating them. Such pulling and scraping as occurred is not often seen in a store.

Paul and Lee Soseby, two old Dahlonega college boys, are now traveling in California for their health. They sent back several clippings from the Nugget taken from the Los Angeles Times to a friend which shows that they still have an eye on Dahlonega.

K. C. Thomson, secretary of the Consolidated Co., stated last Saturday that he was going to leave Dahlonega, because he says that he is displeased with the way the city council conducts the sanitary condition of the town—not allowing any sewer to run into a branch within the corporate limits.

There used to be good singing and much shouting in Dahlonega during revivals, but this is a thing of the past. No one has been heard to raise their voice in this manner that we have heard of here since the young lady bursted her home made bustle while shouting at the Methodist church some years ago, scattering the bran in every direction, causing all solemnity to turn to mirth as soon as it was discovered by the congregation.

Notwithstanding some of our enemies are whining around about the Nugget like a little boy with the belly ache, it still continues to prosper, becoming more popular every day. It is the only paper ever published in Dahlonega that has done justice to all men alike and people like to read it. Last Friday we sold to one man sixty copies of the Nugget, received some renewals, several subscribers, besides doing four different jobs of work. Let her roll.

Among the names at Hall's Villa this week is Jessie Thompson, Sr., Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Nannie Bell and Miss Julia Bell, all from Swainsboro, Ga. Mr. Thompson is the present Mayor of that city and one of her most prosperous citizens. He owns the railroad from Swainsboro to Mill-vill, besides a big saw mill, considerable amount of land and other property. We have no such saw mills in this country. The railroad of 22 miles is built expressly for the purpose of shipping the lumber from his mill.

As heretofore stated Mr. Adams, president of the Consolidated Co. shipped a quantity of ore to Fort Wayne, Ind., some months ago, belonging to J. B. Witt, of Dahlonega, taken from the company's property under a lease, to have it tested by the Hix Process. First of June 948 pounds of this ore, said to be the most inferior at that time, was reported to have recovered to the amount of $1600 per ton. Mr. Hix got sick, so said, and the rest of the ore is scattered all over the country. Of course Mr. Witt wants his money or the ore one. The latter cannot be had and in order to adjust it without a lawsuit had agreed to leave it to an arbitration—Mr. Witt having selected Hon. W. H. McAfee and Mr. Adams has chosen Capt. E. W. Hall, who are to select the third man in case they can't agree.

If you desire the Twice a Week Journal and the Nugget both for twelve months, send us in $1.50 and you will get them.

A man said last Friday that he came from Gaddistown over into this county, a distance of seven miles, every Saturday to read the Nugget and see his wife.

The tallest corn we have heard of yet is being raised by Robert Stringer, residing in the eastern portion of this county. It is seventy-cent feet high, and one of the best crops of corn being raised in the county.

The health of Dahlonega has never been better than during the present summer. Although the scarlet fever has been all round us this year only one case has been in Dahlonega, and that was several months ago. Much credit is due the city council for the due caution it has taken.

One of Lumpkins citizens, who attended meeting at Town Creek church on Thursday night of last week, told us that the boys firing their pistols around and close to the house while preaching was going on, reminded him of soldiers on picket duty during the war. Too much liquor caused it.

We learn that Ella Adams, who ran away from Dahlonega one night not long ago and went to Gainesville with Oscar Roberts, was forced to marry in that city last week, and now if Oscar can keep plenty of estates on hand and they both live up to their marriage vows all further trouble is at an end.

Brother W. G. McNeley, who is traveling in the interest of that great daily—the Atlanta Journal—paid us a pleasant visit last Friday. Mr. McNeley has been serving in this capacity for nearly twelve months with perfect satisfaction to his employers, for he is a hustler and knows how to keep on a move.

On account of some two or three school houses being burnt out in the neighborhood of Jay within the past few years by some fire fiend, the board of education felt a little afraid to contribute any more money for the erection of another. So the partons being aware of this fact went to work a few days ago and put them up a log house in which the young ideas can be learned to shoot just as well at this season of the year as if it was of brick, and just as safe from fire if it is built out of the same kind of timber that is hauled to town for wood some times. Fire won't burn it.

The Gainesville Eagle has this to say about the proposed electric railway from Dahlonega to that city: The bonds have been engraved, and from a statement of General Warner, there will be no difficulty in securing the money to contract the road. That the road to Dahlonega will be built is an assured fact. The promoters of the project will ask nothing of the citizens for the line from Gainesville to Dahlonega. Gainesville will be asked for $15,000 worth of stock in the city system, which will extend to the depot and both the cotton mills. Engineer Cartlie is at present at work on the right of way over the Pacolet Mill property.

On Thursday night of last week some parties—both white and black—sit up all night drinking, talking and picking the banjo and guitar. At the same time a certain white man was roaming about over the streets with a bottle of Peruna in his pocket singing, "I feel just as happy as a big sun flower, that nods and bends in the breezes." Awhile after daylight he retired. Up in the day a servant went to his room to see why he failed to appear at the breakfast table. When the negro went in the man was lying in bed perfectly speechless with a hymn book in his hand open at the song of "Show pity Lord, Oh Lord forgive." Peruna never fails to get in its work.

Last week we were notified by some unknown member to us of the Consolidated Co., through C. W. Satterfield, to take the Union Store ad. out of the Nugget, belonging to this company, but we are not going to do it in this case, because it is paid for until the 21st of September and we always carry out our contracts. It's true that it will do the store nor company no good whatever because they have let the stock run down and got in debt so that it is with hesitancy that they can get a few dollars worth of goods even in Gainesville. Now as some of our readers are not aware we will tell what brought this little unpleasantness about between the Nugget and the promoters of the Consolidated Co. At the beginning of the operations a large number of the stockholders while in Dahlonega subscribed for the Nugget with a request that we keep them correctly posted as far as we were able about the progress and management of the work. This we certainly did and will still continue. Hundreds of hands were employed to build a 120 stamp mill and a thirty ton chlorination plant, which the promoters asserted were insured to save 95 per cent of the gold. While this was going on much outside unnecessary expenditures were being made, costing thousands and thousands of dollars. We waited and watched until they commenced putting on the ornaments. Then we told the stockholders who soon brought a halt. This, of course, displeased these bosses. They are wise men but some of them know no more about a gold mine than a hog does about the pleasures of heaven. At the end of the first year the expenditures amounted to $120,000.00 while the gold bullion received only about $12,000, and after trading and trafficking found themselves short to the tune of more than $72,000 on the first of April last. The mill was shut down some time ago and the number of hands reduced from the hundreds to some thirty or forty, and these haven't been kept busy for the like of ammunition. Is it any wonder that they bursted? Now there is a new scheme on foot—the Hix Process. President Adams claims that ore from the Hand which only made $1.77 per ton on their big, costly improved plant, turned out $11.71 per ton by the Hix, at a cost of 25 cents per ton, while by chlorination it cost $4.50. Nearly all the rich gold ore taken out of the Findley chute was shipped to Fort Wayne, Ind., about the middle or last of May by Mr. Adams to boom the Hix Process. Satisfactory tests were reported, but Witt's gold and none of the Processes have reached Dahlonega up to this writing. The managers of this company have not only failed in mining but everything else here that they have undertaken. The railroad they were going to build to Gainesville was a flash. A house and lot were purchased and more than $3,500 expended fitting up a fine hotel, and not a single day has it been opened to the public. Hall's Villa was run by them several months and it failed to pay expenses. A year ago they purchased Hall's Commissary, valued at $12,000 and consolidated it with their $8,000 stock, having seven clerks, and to-day their stock is reduced to $8,000—taking all these figures from the tax books—now having only three clerks, and not half enough for them to do. So you men of the north need not fear this country because the first managers made nothing in mining. They failed in everything. But now that Mr. Brynmann, the vice-president, is about ready to take hold of the throttle we feel that he will manage the mines so that they will pay, not taking nearly two dollars to get one. Then the stockholders who are now feeling sad will be made glad, causing much better times in Dahlonega and Lumpkin county. So the one wanting the advertisement out must look upon it until the 21st of next month.

Homes in Georgia.

Forty thousand people were each trying to draw a lot of land in Oklahoma last week in the government's distribution of 18,000 land claims by lottery.

We can't understand why people go to the middle west where droughts are frequent, when they can get in Georgia so valuable and fertile lands at a reasonable cost; where schools and churches and railroads are already built and contribute so much to the happiness, convenience and comfort of man. Our climate and water are the finest on earth. In Oklahoma such is not the case. Bad water, hot winds and inhospitable climate, render life almost a fatigue and brings it to an early termination. Come to Georgia and stay in Georgia and cultivate her generous soil and you will be better off than in the overcrowded and sickly west. —Marietta Journal.

The laws of health require that the bowels move once each day and one of the penalties for violating this law is piles. Keep your bowels regular by taking a few of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets when necessary and you will never have that severe punishment inflicted upon you. Price 25 cents. The mosquito is a wisely pest. The suggestion to put kerosene in his breeding was acted on to find him flying around as chipper as ever with a greasy dose. But, seeking a glow, he touches a blaze and explodes, as has been noticed. There are more ways to kill the mosquito, after all than with a maul, and that is really dead is usually satisfaction enough.

"My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhoea," says J. H. Doak, of Williams, Oregon. "We were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale by The Matthew's Drug Co.

THE CROWN MOUNTAIN GOLD Mining & Milling Co.

The Crown Mountain properties are situated in the very heart of the Georgia gold belt and is in the radiating center of all the leading gold veins of the Dahlonega district. They embrace what is believed to be the mother lode of the Appalachian Range.

The extensive and rich ore bodies in sight upon these properties assure long continued mining operations and the indisputable guarantee of the permanent and increasing value of the stock of "The Crown Mountain Co."

The projectors of this company were the first to revive the mining interest in this district in 1896. After three years of careful and exhaustive examination of all the mines of the district of reputation as gold producers, and they had the choice of all, they selected the Crown Mountain combination as the ideal gold mine of the district which would yield or produce the most gold with the least expense. This opinion is shown by all the mining engineers, mining experts, miners and citizens of any standing in the district who are familiar with the properties. As an evidence of this we here state that more of the citizens of the town of Dahlonega and vicinity have taken stock in this company than have in all the other companies combined that have originated in this district.

The company is to be managed by practical business men—who have given much of their time to mining and mining operations, and always with unvarying success.

The present directory is for the most part composed of men who have had much experience in the mining enterprises, and under its efficient and economical management, and by reason of a visible gold supply that is practically inexhaustible, an investment in the stock of this company is undoubtedly safe.

The capitalization of the company is not commensurate with the visible productiveness of the properties and is meagre compared with the capitalization of other justly celebrated mines in the district, but the management believe it will be able to make the stock worth more per share. We invite all prospective investors to make a personal inspection of the mines. We also invite them to examine all the other mines in the district—compare the quality and quantity of the ore and the facilities for economically treating the same. We have no fears of where the choice will fall.

God's Slower Way.

Men get nervous and wish everything done in a day; but God's day is sometimes a thousand years. It requires months for the almighty to perfect the flowers that we tread under foot in our haste. It takes Him a whole season to finish the golden fruit that we can waste in a moment's time. He puts a thousand years into the majestic growth of the oak that the woodman can split in an hour. Though nations are suffering with famine, the wheat-fields grow not one day either. Though the ripening of the fruit by a week's time would vastly increase its value, yet man must patiently wait God's slower way. The conditions of haste do not enter into the Divine plans.—D. O. Mears, D. D.

Attention, Young Men!

The state, recognizing the necessity of your obtaining an education, has established at Dahlonega, a college where you can have the advantage of a $10,000.00 equipment and a faculty, each man a specialist in his department. Tuition is free and board is only $8.00 a month in Dormitory. It is your college, built for you, supported by you, and stands ready to help you. It is not a town school but a real college, being one of the five male colleges of the state. It costs no more to go to a real college than to one only in name. Don't cheat yourself by going to a school without library or scientific laboratories, Lumpkin county boys and girls should attend by the score. The county needs educated men and women. Invest your money in brains. Don't delay longer.

The same law that was enacted in 1804 should be in force now. Then every four wheel carriage, wagons excepted, were taxed $1.00; and every two wheel vehicle, carts excepted, were taxed 50 cents. As the law is now the penniless man or boy from 16 up to 50, not owning a single thing on earth has to pay as much as any liveryman or the richest person living.

The Georgia pension rolls next year will be increased by about 2,000 names, meaning an additional expenditure of something over $150,000.

The Church Killer.

Doubtless you have heard often of the "fool killer," but what of the "church killer?" The trouble about him is that there is no court before small talents, less study and no brains to be brains to be one. Then there are so many ways in which death may be inflicted. The following taken from the southern Christian Advocate will be of service to any who may be seeking employment in this species of murder:

Don't come.
Don't sing.
Don't attend prayermeeting.
Accept committee work, but don't do it.

Let your pastor do all the work.
Make your pastor visit you once a week to correct an imaginary wrong or neglect.

Never pray for your pastor or church.

Come to divine services not to worship but to find fault.

Never encourage your pastor.
Tell your pastor's faults to others, particularly those who are about to unite with his church.

Never give the hymn book to the visitor, nor shake hands or welcome him; he might come again.

Never submit to the majority.
Never give anything to your church.

Discourage all benevolent work.
Be sure your pastors salary is always behind.

If you have no strife stir up one.

"Through the months of June and July our baby was teething and took a running off of the bowels and sickness of the stomach," says O. P. M. Holliday, of Denning, Ind. "His bowels would move from five to eight times a day. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house and gave him four drops in a teaspoonful of water and he got better at once." Sold by The Matthew's Drug Co.

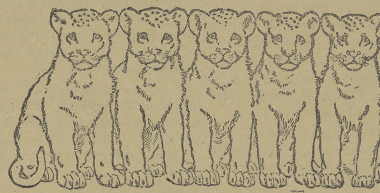

The oil mill at Winder, Monroe, Social Circle, Jefferson, Harmony Grove, Marietta and Lavonia have been bought by a trust.

What most people want is something mild and gentle, when in need of a physic. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets fill the bill to a dot. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by The Matthew's Drug Co.

CITATION.

State of Georgia, Lumpkin County: To all whom it may concern: All persons interested are hereby notified that, if no good cause is shown to the contrary an order will be granted by the undersigned on the 2nd day of September, 1901, establishing a new road, as marked out by the road commissioners appointed for that purpose, commencing at the Cumming or Atlanta road, near the residence of E. J. Castleberry and running by G. M. Dale's and John H. Summerour's and crossing the Etowah river at the Dale ford, thence to the Phoenix gold mines and connecting with the road now being constructed from New Bethel church in Dawson county to the line of Lumpkin county. Betrayed by a Kiss.

Memphis, Tenn., July 26.—A kiss is the new factor in criminal records. It has broken the seal of a seven years' secret, brought a murderer to justice and revealed the man in woman's clothing who had for seasons deceived an entire community. "Jennie" Sears of Huntsville, Ark., whose sensational arrest the other day as the man wanted for a crime committed in Western Texas created the wildest excitement, was convicted by a kiss.

The ethics of the kiss masculine and the kiss feminine do not so much enter into the evidence as the simple physical fact that "Miss Jennie" had too long neglected the barber. Therefore when a little girl, carried away by the excess of her affection for the sweet young school teacher, threw her arms about her neck and planted her rosy lips full on her mouth she became conscious of a curious pricking sensation. Being a child of an enquire turn of mind, she meditated on the phenomenon till she evolved a theory. And it is her exposition of this unique discovery that led to the detection of one of the cleverest desperadoes that ever eluded the sheriff.

As has been told, "Jennie" Sears had for seven years played the woman to an admiring audience in the little rural settlement of Arkansas. Her appearance was the immediate sequence of a singularly cold-blooded murder in the Lone Star State. The victim, an innocent country girl, had been done to her death by a jealous lover—one Albert Sears of whom all trace had been lost.

When a petite blonde with shy blue eyes and curly hair, armed with a good education and musical accomplishments (supposedly the outcome of a course at the Cincinnati Conservatory) sought pupils in Huntsville she was accepted much as a gift from a benevolent providence. Charming, confident young women, with vast possibilities in the social line, are not an everyday occurrence in that region, and Madison county soon rang with her praises.

When a petition was circulated asking that she have charge of the county school the susceptible trustees yielded without a dissenting voice. "Miss Jennie" entered on her duties in an atmosphere of worship from the gallants round about. Her manner of handling what might have been an embarrassing of beaux to any less astute damsel, however, only won her fresh encomiums. She bestowed her favor with such unerring discretion that each one thought himself the favored one. The school prospered. The pretty young school ma'am was eminently fitted for his task. She ruled her pupils by love, and for several years her life flowed on like a peaceful tide.

The disturbing element which suddenly roughened the current was a too ardent wooer, who, in the person of a local politician, pressed his suit in and out of season. The hesitation of "Miss" Sears was met with a hint that her suitor's influence might be brought to bear against her in her school and appointment. This forced her hand. She promptly resigned.

The little drama, which of course was witnessed by the entire county, only raised "Miss" Sears higher in public estimation, and the private school she presently opened was widely patronized. The youthful principal made her home with her teachers, and was a figure at all social gatherings.

Two years passed and her reign was undisputed. Then came the kiss and the denouement.

It was during recess one day that little Mary Hancock, twelve year old daughter of a farmer, bestowed upon "Miss" Sears the fateful caress and received in return the pricking sensation before referred to. Mary made no comment at the time, but when that night she climbed upon her father's knee to give him a good-night kiss, and experienced the same stinging of her tender skin from his unshaven visage, the coincidence moved her to speak.

Her story, at first discredited as childish imagining, and finally believed, brought to mind other inexplicable happenings, and link by link the chain of evidence was welded against the school teacher.

So carefully was the matter kept from "Miss" Sears that when Detective Irving of Baid, Texas, arrived with his warrant he rounded up his prisoner without a moment's delay.—N. Y. World.

Dr. Howard Talks About the Railroad.

JONESBORO, ALA., Aug 14 1901.
EDITOR NUGGET:—

Thank you for the information given in your paper of the 9th inst., that the Dunlap shoals had been purchased by those interested in the Gainesville and Dahlonega railroad. A great plant is to be built at that place, which will furnish electric power for all the manufacturing establishments at Gainesville and New Holland, as well as for all business and private houses in the city, besides electric car lines, and lights for all the streets of the city, also a supply of water for water works, as well as private use if needed. Let the people of Gainesville know that one source of this water is near the top of the Blue Ridge at Unacoy passing down through Nacoochee Valley, one of the loveliest in Georgia. One of the most interesting legends which occurred in the Valley long years ago, was written and published over fifty years ago—may have been Dr. M. F. Stephenson, who wrote it but I am not sure. But go back to the Nacoochee gap with me, and with a glass look north down the Hiwassee river, and you may very clearly see two small counties, Towns, Ga., and Clay, N. C., with Hayesville, being old fort Hembree 25 miles off. These two counties are in a tray shaped valley with mountains on either side. Twenty miles further on lies the flat open valley extending on to Murphy, N. C., located at the junction of Hiwassee and Valley rivers. This is one of the most picturesque scenes that I have ever witnessed. I trust the Gainesville people will come forward and give their aid in constructing the railroad from the southern depot to Dahlonega. This will not injure but rather help them. Little towns will spring up all along the road and populations will increase. N. F. HOWARD, M. D.

The Messers Ferry, of Cobb county have shipped six car loads of baled wheat straw from this farm for which they received $6.50 a ton. Hence what once went to waste is turned to a profitable advantage like cotton seed that formerly served as a bed for many cures.—Ex.

All Like the Nugget.

ED. NUGGET:—

Dear Sir:—

Enclosed please find one dollar for your valuable paper another year. Out of a half dozen papers the NUGGET is the first one that is read after the mail comes in. We all rush for it and the one that gets it counts himself the lucky one and then the rest sits and quarrels about who will get it next, and so it goes on that way until all have read it but the baby, and she can't read but enjoys playing with it better than any other paper.

Yours Truly,

J. W. HYDE.

Always watch the dates on your paper, renew in time and you won't miss a single copy of the NUGGET.

A number of the heretofore neglected streets have been receiving attention this week. This is right. Every one within the city limits have to pay streets taxes and all should receive some work.

J. W. Postell, in writing us last week from Gypsum, Kan., last week, stated that the corn crop is burnt up in that section. Wheat is good but there will be no feed for cattle and people are shipping their cattle out as fast as possible. Corn is 75 cents per bushel and wheat 70.

There is a splendid mineral spring within a quarter of a mile of the court house of Dahlonega which if fixed up and properly advertised would cause more visitors to come to our city than do. Samples of it should be kept at the hotels so the traveling public can see it and taste for themselves and then be shown where it came from.

Some one remarked the other day that he thought we were opposed to churches, but we are not. We would not live in a community where there are none. It's true that many fail to live up to them but churches and ministers help to hold people under some, who would be much worse were it not for the churches. We give church news just as it occurs, like every thing else—correct without any white washing. The NUGGET is not going to hold a man or woman up who joins only for policy or for a blind, and try to make the people believe that they have almost reached the entrance of heaven when we know better. We venture the assertion that we have already contributed more money to all three of the churches this year than many who belong and who are much more able.

DON'T WAIT.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, AUGUST 23, 1901.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O. as Second Class Matter.

The total increase of Georgias taxes for 1901 is $17,487,194.

Gainesville will soon have telephone connections with Jefferson.

Let every citizen pull for Dahlonega while an opportunity is offered.

Edward Hart was fined $10.75 in Atlanta last week for whipping his child like a brute.

The quarterly report made last week shows that there are a balance of more than $800,000 in the state treasury.

The first veteran to die in the Soldiers Home in Atlanta, was H. T. Hays, of Polk county, who passed away last week.

Solicitor Tou Hutcheson of the Blue Ridge Circuit, who is known in Dahlonega, died at Canton on the night of the 20th.

An ordinance has been passed in Gainesville prohibiting dogs from barking in that city to the annoyance of any one. Next.

Some burglars ate fruit, and smoked cigarettes the other night in Atlanta while robbing a safe, apparently not having any fear of the police.

Mobile and other gulf coast places were visited by wind and water last week doing much damage to property. A number of lives were lost.

The last Dawson county grand jury recommended that five of its indigent pensioners be stricken from the list because they are not entitled.

A burglar got hold of a preacher's purse at Cartersville the other night and only received one dollar for his trouble. Preachers pocket books are like printers, contain but very little.

"Do hogs pay?" Asks a Missouri farmer of his county editor. The editor replied: "We have several on our subscription books who have not paid anything for several years."

Gus Fellows, the negro who assaulted Miss Hood in Jackson county last October, was tried last week and given 20 years in the penitentiary, being recommended to mercy by the jury.

Atlanta allows no one to beg within its limits, not even the blind nor cripple. Erva Buck, a white man haying only one arm is now breaking rock at the stockade in that city because he asked for alms.

It has been reported here that Lumpkin camp meeting was postponed on account of scarlet fever in that neighborhood, but we guess that it is a false alarm as we have heard nothing to this effect very late.

Pension Commissioner says that he does not believe the indigent widows of the state will receive any money this year. The last legislature passed an act to pay them but failed to make any appropriation.

Col. J. H. Estill is our choice for governor, because he runs one of the most reliable and best daily papers in Georgia, has done his people more good than any of his opponents and should now be rewarded.

Dolly Prichard, who was sent to the penitentiary from Cherokee county recently, seems to have a hard hearted mother owing to the fact that she refuses to sign any kind of a petition asking for a pardon of her daughter.

We haven't voted for Carter Tate in many years but are going to next time if our mind doesn't change and we have no idea that it will, because every time an opportunity is offered for him to do anything for Dahlonega or any of her people he does it with pleasure, causing us to want to help those who help us.

Mining Notes

The Crown Mountain plant is expecting to be able to start up at any day, just as soon as a broken piece of machinery is replaced by one which in all probability has been cast and on its way by this time.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Dahlonega Consolidated Co. was called to convene at Toledo, O., last Wednesday for the purpose of conserving the best interests of all who have invested money in this enterprise.

A party consisting of four native miners commenced placer work last Monday down on a lot belonging to R. W. Walker, on Cane Creek. Each understands his work thoroughly and will not have to be suggested to by some high standing collar boss who never saw a gold mine until he came to Dahlonega.

Work conducted by Messrs. Edgecomb and Hutchins down on lot S10 has been somewhat delayed by the almost incessant rains which we have recently been having, but according to an old saying that a "bad beginning always makes a good ending." It's looked for in this case, if these gentlemen don't make gold on this lot with proper care and management every one here will be deceived.

The following questions are sent us from Delaware, O., through the United States Investor: I should like very much to know the condition of the Dahlonega Consolidated Gold Mining Co. What is the status of the company? I am told by some people that there is gold on the property. Is this true and is the one of a quality that can be worked profitably? They have built a very large milling plant on the property of the company at Dahlonega, but there seems to be a lack of confidence in the venture in some quarters. Is this justified, and what is the exact status of the company, and is it a good investment?

The Gainesville Eagle in speaking of some gold ore found within a few miles of Dahlonega, close to Auraria, says: H. D. Jaquish showed us a rock last Saturday that is a little the richest in gold of any we have ever seen. It was hardly half as large as a man's hand and would assay at least $20—or about $60,000 to the ton. This rock came out of the "Shotgun Clute," in the Auraria mine, over which Bigbee and Summerour had a battle some five or six years ago. The mine is now owned by Mr. Jaquish. J. B. Beck is now working the chute with mortar and pan, and lately he took out $5024 pennyweights in a day and a half work. The chute is an average of four inches wide and goes down at an angle. A depth of 60 feet has been reached.

Reply: This company owns a large 120 stamp mill, 30 ton chlorination plant within a mile of Dahlonega, and several thousand acres of mineral lands, some of it very rich. The plant is the finest in the whole country but too much of it at one place. The mill has been idle for some time, except a very few of the stamps which have been crushing ore for a test on vice-president Broyman's gold saving process. The company is considerably in debt brought about by extravagant expenditures and bad management, and a trust company of Toledo, O., now has trust deed or mortgage on the property for five years drawing six per cent interest. A few hands only are now engaged working in a shaft and one tunnel, taking ore out of the latter only, but can't supply a mill having a capacity of many tons a day. Other veins on that property are not being touched. The president reports that they saved less than $2.00 per ton on this mill said to be worth nearly $12 per ton, claiming that it is too rusty for the plates to catch owing to being so near the surface, causing them to want to go deeper after more cleaner gold. It is a good investment but not under the present management. Managers who give more than $6,400 to build a shaft house and dig a hole only about 160 feet deep can't run a gold mine in this nor no other country profitably.

As little as has been said about it Judge W. W. Murray, of Tennessee, has been of more benefit to this county than any one who has ever appeared here. When he arrived at Dahlonega several years ago he made large investments and went to work developing our vast mineral resources. He secured native miners of the most practical experience, performed nothing but legitimate business and has thus far made no failures whatever. Time and again we've heard him say that Crown Mountain was one of the biggest mines in this whole country and the day was coming when he would get capitalists interested in it and put water on the mountain. This he has done and several giants are doing just what he said would be done several years ago. It required a good deal of time but the work is completed and every thing is working to the perfect satisfaction of all interested. Some time ago he was chosen president of a railroad company. He stated then that there were men connected with it who would succeed in building a road to Gainesville. And this is also coming to pass, causing us to have great confidence in Judge Murray.

The protracted rains prevented any bathing in Cane Creek falls for two weeks to be displeasure of many who visit the place.

Last Sunday after "Prof." Ed Austin and Bro. Henry Thomas, both colored, filled a little sack with biscuits and chicken, they left into their cart and started out into the country for a little outing. Just as they reached the edge of town down came the seat negroes, chicken and all into the mud. The horse commenced backing and while the unfortunate couple lay on their backs in the mud they put their feet under the axle and raised the cart high above to keep it from running over them, causing some passers by to think that it was the forerunner of a circus.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.
The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was always a slave, chained with putred sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had over-spoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full size bottle."

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, AUGUST 23, 1901.

And still it rains.

Can you afford to take all the risk of loss by fire or lightning?

The state and county tax rate here this year will be about $1.20 or $1.25 on the hundred dollars.

Mr. Buchanan, of Macon, Ga., has been spending several days in Dahlonega.

Col. Price will keep his office down home until the building, which has been occupying, is completed.

The continued rains for near two weeks have caused butter, chickens and all kinds of produce to be scarce in this market.

Since the wine trouble at Pleasant Ridge church some of its members have moved their membership to Dahlonega.

Mrs. James Hunt, of Gainesville who used to reside in Dahlonega, was on a visit to this place first of the week, being the first time for many years.

The first cost of a gallon of blackberry wine in Dahlonega is only one dollar. Before some are through with theirs it will reach as high as $50 or $75.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Reid, of Eatonton, Ga., are on a visit to their daughter, Mrs. Matthews in Dahlonega, together with their daughters, Mrs. W. H. Burwell, of Sparta, Ga.

During the Dahlonega camp meeting Mr. Grizzle residing nearby, lost all the melons and even the vines were destroyed. The camp meeting didn't have any effect on the perpetrators of this act.

Only two bids were put in for the Gamlin property in this county on the 15th, being Sheriff, J. M. Davis, of Dahlonega, and a Mr. Couch of Texas. Mr. Davis' bid was the largest, being $1,301.

Many wagon loads of water melons, corn and meal are being sold in Dahlonega by farmers residing in Hall county. Corn and meal have been bringing them 90 cents per bushel a portion of this week.

Joe Sparks says that they can beat him on tall corn but he thinks that he is ahead on high tomato vines having, one eight feet and nine feet high with four tomatoes right in the top. Can any one beat it?

A party of several persons from Atlanta, was here last week, stopping at Park Street Inn. Many more visitors would come to Dahlonega if hotel proprietors would do a little more advertising. It won't cost much. Try it.

Some parties here from Pickens county last Saturday stated that they had several cases of well developed small pox both at Jasper and Tate, Ga. Extra precaution should be taken so as to prevent it from spreading over the whole country it true.

The wine that is made in this county has created more development and work for the courts than the liquor, because it is manufactured by so many more people, numerous church members and others make it and drink it. We are reliably informed that the wine which caused the young men to cut up at Pleasant Ridge church, recently, came from a preacher's house, where it is kept for sale.

Some business men, or rather some men who are in business conduct their affairs as though they were only going to remain in the town for six months, get in all the money they can and give nothing to help build a hustling market. You can't have a hustling and wide awake town unless you have some hustle about yourself. Now you all want the railroad, don't you? Yes. Then let every one who is able to contribute something do so and make it light on the others who are more liberal and public spirited. You will lose nothing by it, but on the other hand gain.

Is your house insured? If not, why not?

Water melons are a dull sale in Dahlonega now.

Mrs. A. W. Meaders, of Watkinsville, is here on a visit to relatives.

The fall session of the N. G. A. College begins on the 11th day of September.

The first new brandy of the season brought $2 per gallon last Monday in Dahlonega.

A series of meetings are being conducted at Yahoola church this week by Rev. J. M. Ridley.

W. W. & A. G. Quinn, of White county, have the contract of building W. P. Price, Jr.'s store house.

I. V. Purcell, a stepson of R. H. Webb, of Dahlonega, has been appointed to a position in the U. S. Navy.

Mr. Goodman Thomas and Miss Minnie Grizzle were married in the upper portion of Yahoola district last Sunday.

Floriel Hatfield one of the inmates at the pauper's home is in feeble health. There are five other inmates who are well cared for.

Mr. Sharp, of Chatsahoochee, Tenn., who has interests in the Jumbo mine, has been here for some days taking in the situation generally.

Col. W. A. Charters has moved his office into the old Hall House, now belonging to the Consolidated Co., until a new one is fitted up for him in the Price building.

If you need any shoes now is the time to get them at H. D. Gursleys who has made a cut price on them. Call at once or you will miss a bargain.

Lieut. Fred Price arrived in San Francisco last Sunday from the Philippine Islands. He will pay his parents here a visit shortly but at what time is not exactly known yet.

Capt. Hall has shipped many wagon loads of his furniture from Dahlonega to Ingleside this week, for which place he and his wife will soon leave for the purpose of making it their future home.

After the death of Asie Brown, col., last Sunday night, those present sat up and sang good old songs like they used to many years ago which sounded very lonesome at the dead hours of night.

The telephone from Cleveland to Nacoochee Valley, Ga., has been completed enabling the citizens of Dahlonega to extend their conversations farther on up into the mountains by wire. Let the good work continue.

An attorney after arriving in Dahlonega last week discovered that he had lost his pocket book on the way. Fortunately some traveler found it. This is another evidence that all the pistol pockets should be sewed up.

At a big revival at Mt. Lebanon in Union county recently, Aba Woody and several others joined the church all of whom will be baptized on the first Sunday in September. Many are anticipating going from this county.

The following applications for pensions have been refused from Lumpkin county, to-wit: Soldiers, M. H. Philyau, M. M. Grizzle, G. W. Burns, J. B. Housley, James Elkins. Widows: Mary A. Gilbert, Jane Lingerfelt, Julia Ann Adams, Mary B. King.

One day this week J. A. Howard, who has closed his store while at work in the postoffice, noticed that some one had entered through a broken pane of glass and carried off some old colts, a lot of pickles, salmon, sausage, candy, cologne, etc. In a short while Mr. Howard found where Marion Edmonson had disposed of some of the articles. When found he confessed and said that Homer Tolbert, Willie Mickets and Bob Daniels, three other small boys were with him, who will be made to remember the transaction a long time if their parents are convinced that they are guilty.

Both Rail and Adams, the church disburbers confined in jail, have made bond.

Do you want the job of putting up a grist mill? See Meaders and Quillians notice elsewhere.

The K. and P. Fraternity has engaged a hall over Anderson & Jones new store house when it is completed.

If you want to buy 40 acres of farming land only three miles from town it will pay you to refer to our advertising columns.

The department has been asked to establish a post office at M. M. Londons, some five or six miles from Dahlonega.

Sargent and Rickets, contractors for the building of the college dormitory, for girls, commenced the wood work last week.

The funeral of Mrs. John Ferguson will be preached by Rev. J. W. Rider at the Dahlonega camp ground on the first Sunday in September.

In perusing the old Dahlonega Signal files presented us by Capt. Hall, we find many interesting things away back when that paper had an editor.

Do you want to buy a nice comfortable home in Dahlonega—two stories high in a very desirable part of the city at a reasonable figure before the price of property advances? If so let us know and we can fit you up.

The horse which Messrs. Bloomer and Ikes were driving to the city from the Hand mine last Friday, ran away on Crans' Hill, tearing up the baggy considerably but fortunately injuring the occupants but little.

The Railroad company only asks this county for $15,000 towards the construction of the proposed line from Dahlonega to Gainesville. Now it is to the interest of every citizen to subscribe something. It is an enterprise that will prosper and be a great benefit to all.

It is astonishing how cheap some people can keep house in this county. Quite a number of persons return their household and kitchen furniture to the tax receiver for four or five dollars. But when one gets burnt out and starts round with a "begging paper" they value their loss at a hundred dollars or more.

Last week we stated that the tax digest for this year showed a decrease of a little more than two thousand dollars in Lumpkin county. Since that time it has been discovered that certain property had not been returned which will make an increase of some four or five thousand dollars over last year and maybe more.

The tax returns of many persons residing within the corporate limits for state and county taxes are much lower than the city council assessed them for municipal taxes—some times amounting to several hundred dollars. In one instance a firm me chanical is assessed at $3,000 by the city, when it is only returned at $0,000 for state and county purposes.

G. A. Rebert, of Sopchewog, O., in receiving his subscription to the Nugget last week ended his letter as follows: "You doubtless understand that your 'long distance' subscribers eagerly scan your pages for mining notes. I am much pleased with your reports thus far with reference to mining notes and hope you will continue giving hard facts only in future as you have done in the past."

We are glad to see that Capt. H. D. Ingersoll has recovered so that he can reach his office a foot without any assistance. The Captain is one of the cleverest men in Dahlonega and the best friend to poor people we ever saw. His sympathy is different to that of many people. When seeing you in need he wastes no time in offering up a long winded prayer asking the Lord to send down a ray and reach right down in his pockets and readers assistance while you are needy and in distress.

At J. H. McKees you will find special prices on dry goods. Go and see how cheap they are.

If the weather is not too inclement quite a number of veterans will attend the re-union at Gainesville to day (Friday).

Our old friend and patron, Peter Peck, who resides in Shoal Creek district, died last Monday after a lingering illness of some time.

Work is progressing on Will Prices new storehouse. It is going to be the finest one in Dahlonega. In front it will have large plate glass over five feet square with nice iron columns, all costing several hundred dollars, which will be a credit to the town.

When the sheriff arrested Ed. Austin the other day he said everything that a poor negro could to keep out of jail. Just before reaching the entrance he remarked "Mr. Davis, please don't put me in jail. I'm a good democrat," but police was not in this case.

Nine months ago T. J. Smith located in Dahlonega and went into business. He secured advertising space in the Nugget for three months as a trial. This he has continued, up to he has made the fourth contract with us this week, which proves that it pays him to advertise in this paper.

Last Sunday night as Chalmers Stow was returning from White county, where he had been to carry a corpse, he ran up on a bank near Col. Baker's farm turning the horse over on him, bruising him up and damaging the horse so that it can't be used until several dollars worth of repairs are made on it.

Rev. Thomas O'Kelly came up from Atlanta last week and assisted his brother here in carrying on the protracted meeting at the Baptist church. He was accompanied by his wife. They departed for home last Monday but the meeting is still going on with good results. Eight or ten have joined by letter and otherwise.

Prof. A. W. Cain, a resident of Lumpkin county who has been in charge of the Dawsonville High School for some time, will leave next Wednesday for Texas, where he goes to take charge of the High School at Floresville. Prof. Cain is one of the brightest young men of this whole country and leaves for the Lone Star State with best wishes of the entire community.

Mayor Price and R. P. Whelchel had some red hot words last Monday. The mayor told Mr. Whelchel that he had some of the towns property under fence, causing the lie to be given. Then their tongues began to rattle and continued until they grew tired and ran down. No other damage. It is regretted that two old citizens like these who have lived friendly towards each other all their lives will fall out just about the time they are ready to view another world. A revival is in progress and they can ask the Lord to forgive them for what they said to each other if they see proper.

During the electric storm Tuesday just at dark the school house and Consolidated Co's hotel were struck by lightning, and at the same time George Jenkins, one hundred yards away fell to the floor at the feet of his wife at home where he lay apparently lifeless until removed to the bed with a gas in his forehead made by a piece of furniture in the fall. It scorched a streak the width of your two fingers beginning on the back of his neck, over his shoulder, down the right side of his breast and to. Had it passed over his heart no doubt it would have been instant death. Glad to say that Mr. Jenkins is recovering. The bell tower of the school house is slightly damaged, while that of the hotel amounts to about twenty five dollars—the west corner being torn out next to the roof, a window knocked out and slight damage to the interior. Both houses are insured and the company which Prof. Stewart represents, has ordered the repairs to be good at once.

Railroad News.

As stated in a previous issue of the NUGGET, the railroad from Gainesville is a certainty. Capt. W. J. Worley having finished securing the rights of ways, commenced last week taking the notes of those who had subscribed amounts toward the construction of the same. These notes are not due until the road is completed to Dahlonega and cars running on schedule time. Work will begin on the road beyond a doubt at an early day.

To show that the company means business and the people at the other end of the line are wide awake on this subject we clip the following from last weeks Gainesville Eagle:

"The Gainesville & Dahlonega Electric Railway Co. has purchased the Dahlonega water power, which embraces 750 acres of land that extends from the Chattahoochee river to the city limits. For this property it paid Mr. Dunlap $20,000.

A dam will be constructed at the shoals of such height as will furnish fall enough to generate 5,000 horse-power.

Seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth of bonds have been issued, and the company will begin work at an early day not later than Oct. 1st.

Besides the railroad to Dahlonega, Gainesville is to get a complete street car system, with lines running to both of the cotton mills.

There is nothing that will add so much to the trade of Gainesville as electric cars running to and from these mills.

Gainesville will be asked to take $15,000 stock in the street car system, which is asking very little; but when it is taken the goodwill of our people will have been manifested in a substantial way, and that $15,000 of local capital will be invested in an enterprise that will be worth more to the city than any other investment that could be made at this time.

The company also proposes to ask for a lightning franchise that it may supply the city and individuals with all the arc and incandescent lights that are needed.

There are those who have been skeptical as to whether the line would be built, but they now realize that the company means business.

The purchase of the Dunlap water power by the company has already stimulated prices in real estate circles, and property is in great demand.

The company has bought the right to back water on the land as far up the Chattahoochee as the new bridge.

Engineer Gerlie, having completed the survey of the Dahlonega line, is now making the maps. He has also finished the survey of the street railway to Paocoe.

Dahlonega Public Schools.

The Dahlonega Public Schools (white and colored) will enter upon their third annual session Tuesday, September 3rd at 8:00 a. m. The ringing of the school bell will be the signal for the pupils to assemble. The principal will be at the school building on Monday, Sept. 2nd, to classify and register new pupils. Let all who were not in attendance last year apply at that time for entrance certificates—whites from 8:30 a. m. to 12; colored from 1:30 to 4:00 p. m.

The schools will be under the administration of the same officials and teachers as last year, and no effort will be spared to make the instruction thorough and efficient, and to maintain a kind but firm and impartial standard of discipline. To this end, the teachers solicit the hearty cooperation and good-will of every patron, and pledge their earnest and impartial interest in the advancement of each pupil.

It will be a great aid to the teachers and will considerably promote the interest of the pupils, if parents will allow their children to enter on the very first day, remain until the last, and not absent a single day in the year, if possible.

Parents must not expect the work of irregular pupils to be entirely satisfactory, or that such pupils will advance regularly. Every child of school age within the corporate limits of Dahlonega should attend school. Tuition to such is absolutely free, and books and other requisites cost as little as is commensurate with the best work. Non-residents, and pupils under six or above 17 years of age, will apply at the store of Mr. J. F. Moore, Sec. & Treas. of the School Board, and obtain a receipt for the tuition fee of $3 per calendar month, or fractional part thereof. It will be preferable if tuition for the entire term (4 months) is paid in advance.

Parents are cordially urged to visit the schools and observe the progress of their children. There is no better way of finding out what your child is doing, and your visit will be an inspiration to both pupil and teacher.

Very Respectfully,
J. M. MARTIN,
Supt. and Pres.
The Arbitration Between J. B. Witt and J. W. Adams.

We stated last week that Capt. F. W. Hall and Hon. W. H. McAfee were appointed to arbitrate a settlement between J. B. Witt and J. W. Adams about some gold ore belonging to Mr. Witt taken from the Findley mine, under a lease, property of the Consolidated Company, of which Mr. Adams is president. This ore was taken from the Findley chute and is very rich. Along in May, at the request of Mr. Adams, he was permitted to ship several hundred pounds of this ore, 1st, 2nd and third grade, to Fort Wayne, Ind., in order to make a test and boom the Hix process. When Mr. Witt was notified to go to Fort Wayne first of June to see his ore tested some thirty or forty pounds of the best grade were missing and is yet. 345 pounds of the lower grade ore were tested and produced more than 800 penny weights of pure gold. This was tendered Mr. Witt but he refused to accept it. It was expressed to Dahlonega and again offered to him but he didn't want to take just a portion of his earnings and it was placed in the bank until the arbiters is adjusted either by the arbiters or by a jury, when that will be no one can tell. The testimony of five of six witnesses was taken here last Tuesday from men who took the ore out. They swore that it was worth from four to six thousand dollars. The ore which Mr. Witt kept here, now in the hands of the arbiters, is said to be a fair sample of that sent off, which witnesses say is worth four or five dollars a pound. Mr. Witt has been treated very shabby we think about his gold which will doubtless learn him a lesson and cause him to hold fast to what is his hereafter when dealing with strangers. Although Mr. Adams never consulted the board of directors or the executive committee about getting this gold for a display, neither has he said any thing to them about the arbitration, notwithstanding the board has been in session twice since, he has had a paper signed by Mr. Witt, exonerating him from all blame whatever, and dragged the name of the Consolidated Co. into this matter without its knowledge or consent, which is causing some of its members to kick, and others will join in when they learn of it.

Where are the parties that were going to meet and boycott the Nugget? They found out that they were almost like the lone pilgrim. Men, if any of you become offended at the Nugget, come up face to face and tell us so and maybe things can be adjusted. And if there are any females mad at us let them come forward with a dough face on and we will greet them with both a smile and a bass.

No outdoor work of any consequence has been done here on account of the rainy weather.

The Kind of a Boy the World Wants.

Boys are always in demand because they are the material out of which men are made, and as first-class material is always a premium in every line of trade, so the boys who give promise of making first-class men most eagerly sought after.

The boy the world wants today is the one who can be trusted to handle money without it sticking to his fingers or fingering its way into his pocket. He will take as much interest in the affairs of his employer as if they were his own, and will stay fifteen minutes without being asked, to finish a piece of work after the whistle blows and the rest of the men have quit work. He will be able to write a business letter and spell the words correctly, and to add up a column of figures promptly and accurately. He will lift his cap as readily to his sister when he meets her on the street as he would where she is the sister of some other boy; and he will not be ashamed to walk to church with his mother, show her into her own pew and sit beside her during the service. He will be careful in making a promise, and just as careful about keeping it. He will have sufficient moral backbone to say no to those who would lead him astray, and will have enough courage to own that he is striving to make a man of himself. This is the kind of boy that so many are on the lookout for.—Selected.

"My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhoea," says J. H. Dosk, of Williams, Oregon. "We were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort, we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale by The Matthew's Drug Co.

THE CROWN MOUNTAIN GOLD Mining & Milling Co.

The Crown Mountain properties are situated in the very heart of the Georgia gold belt and is in the radiating center of all the leading gold veins of the Dahlonega district. They embrace what is believed to be the mother lode of the Appalachian Range.

The extensive and rich ore bodies in sight upon these properties assure long continued mining operations and the indisputable guarantee of the permanent and increasing value of the stock of "The Crown Mountain Co."

The projectors of this company were the first to revive the mining interest in this district in 1896. After three years of careful and extensive examination of all the mines of the district of reputation as gold producers, and they had the choice of all, they selected the Crown Mountain combination as the ideal gold mine of the district which would yield or produce the most gold with the least expense. This opinion is shown by all the mining engineers, mining experts, miners and citizens of any standing in the district who are familiar with the properties. As an evidence of this we have state that, more of the citizens of the town of Dahlonega and vicinity have taken stock in this company than have in all the other companies combined that have organized in this district.

The company is to be managed by practical business men—who have given much of their time to mining and mining operations, and always with unvarying success.

The present directory is for the most part composed of men who have had much experience in the mining enterprises, and under its efficient and economical management, and by reason of a visible gold supply that is practically inexhaustible, an investment in the stock of this company is undoubtedly safe. The capitalization of the company is not commensurate with the visible productiveness of the properties and is meagre compared with the capitalization of other justly celebrated mines in the district, but the management believe it will be able to make the stock worth above par.

We invite all prospective investors to make a personal inspection of the mines. We also invite them to examine all the other mines in the district—compare the quality and quantity of the ore and the facilities for economically treating the same. We have no fears of where the choice will fall.

Address J. F. or J. H. Moore, Dahlonega, Ga., or Denney & McCabe, 10 & 12 West Spring Street, Columbus, Ohio, or Gen. Warner, Marietta, Ohio.

The story is told that when Mr. Carnegie's parents left Scotland for the country they had not money enough to pay the fares, and that Mrs. Carnegie, mother of the millionaire, borrowed $2 from a friend in Dunfermline. The debt was lost sight of and never paid. The other day, upon the matter coming to the attention of Mr. Carnegie, he looked up the descendants of his mother's friend, of whom he found two, both in poor circumstances. Upon these he settled incomes that make them independent for life. The $2 had, after all been drawing big interest during the time it was unpaid.

Over in Wahoo district we are told that a certain fellow sent for a Squire to wed him and his intended lover recently after the officer the young man stepped out and never returned.

It is becoming more apparent every day that the Ducktown copper companies will have to find some way to dispense with the smoke if they continue to operate these mines, or have to contend with incessant war in the courts. People all over the surrounding country, are becoming very much concerned about the matter, and say the smoke has already done great damage to fruit and fruit trees, to say nothing of the damage done and being done, to the forest and vegetation. If there is a way, as they say, by which this ore can be worked without roasting it, why don't these companies adopt it, and save so much litigation? The people are not to blame. It is only rights, and they say they will contend for them to the highest court if they cannot be had short of there.—Blue Ridge World.

Big Premiums For Farmers.

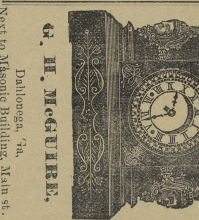

The Southern Inter-State Fair, to be held at Atlanta in October next, has decided upon a very tempting schedule of premiums for agricultural products. Here are some of the principal items: $1,000.00 for the best county exhibit; $500.00 for the second and $250.00 for the third best exhibits of this character. Besides these, each county making a worthy exhibit, that does not take a premium, will be awarded a special prize of $100.00.

There are five premiums offered for agricultural exhibits made by individuals. These prizes range as follows: $300.00, $200.00, $100.00, $50.00 and $20.00 respectively. Then comes an exceedingly liberal offer for exhibits of hay and forage, headed with premiums of $100.00 and $50.00 for first and second prizes respectively.

The premiums offered for grain and root crops are also very liberal, $10.00 and $5.00 premiums for the first and second best bushels of each. These premiums are offered in great detail and full information is given in the premium list issued by the Association. Send your name to Secretary T. H. Martin, Atlanta, and secure a copy of this list. It contains numerous prizes for which you may compete with every chance of winning.

The Atlanta police authorities are death on loafers. More than 200 were locked up the other day. You must have some visible means of support if you stay about Atlanta.

Takes Fifty-eight Papers.

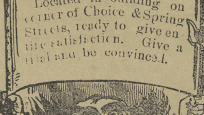

Professor W. H. Lynch of the academy at Mountain Grove, Mo., is credited with reading more paid for newspapers than any other in the United States, says the Kansas City Times. He subscribes for 58 newspapers, six of them dailies. The professor says: "I use the newspapers in my classes. They are the best instruments in the world for teaching current history and geography. The real drama of life in its varied forms of commercial, political must be seen and learned through the mirror of the world, the newspaper. Every Friday morning in the academy is devoted to the reading of newspapers."

The value of mineral water from different springs in the south in 1900 is estimated at $60,000—Georgia $28,000. This report is taken from the U. S. Geological Survey which shows that the mineral water alone is quite an item and a big help to those owning the springs.

Attention, Young Men!

The state, recognizing the necessity of your obtaining an education, has established at Dahlonega, a college where you can have the advantage of a $40,000.00 equipment and a faculty, each man a specialist in his department. Tuition is free and board only $8.00 a month in Dormitory. It is your college, built for you, supported by you, and stands ready to help you. It is not a town school but a real college, being one of the five male colleges of the state. It costs no more to go to a real college than to one only in name. Don't cheat yourself by going to a school without library or scientific laboratories, Lumpkin county boys and girls should attend by the score. The county needs educated men and women. An Article From the Pen of Miss Sallie Reid.

Goodness is greatness, and to be great we must be good. Some are in the estimation of the people great, who in the estimation of God worth but very little. On the other hand some are great with God, whom the people will try to drag down to the very lowest degree of utter depravity and ruin. But bless the Lord we are not great and strong by what people say we are, but by what we are, and God knowing us to be sincere in our depositions. The inner graces constitute the worth and beauty of the soul, which is pleasing to God. The outward graces constitute the beauty of our form which is pleasing to the people.

He who conquers himself by the grace of God, is more worthy of admiration than he who conquers worlds, and by his armies has placed nations under his feet.

Wealth and beauty are not to be compared with goodness and Godliness.

However, this is not the worlds estimate of such. The world regards people by their wealth, their social position, the number of their friends, and their influence upon others. Those who live in palaces, dress in fine silks and satin, live in luxurious equipage, have culture and refinement, are possessed of distinguished talent, attract by their wit, and charm by their eloquence—these are the great of earth before whom we bow down. But the judgement of the world is by no means, always the judgement of God. Only a true, noble, humble life counts with Him. People may possess lands and houses, and mental gift, reputation and pleasure and all that is admirable in the sight of the world, and yet be nothing in the sight of God. Character, true noble character is the essential thing. There is a distinct line between character and reputation. Character may be termed reputation, but reputation is not character. Reputation is what people say you are, not knowing your heart, and character is what you really are in the sight of God. Not all can gain high positions or great wealth or social influence, or a wide good reputation. But all may possess that which is better than position and wealth and reputation—a pure character, a clean, honest life, a noble, gentle, generous forgiving spirit. An upright, unselfish life spent amid poverty, trials and persecutions is a greater life than that lived by a king or queen who know not God and His righteousness.

In the language of Paul kind reader, "I beseech you therefore brethren, by the mercies of God that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."—Rom. 12—1.

The farmer who has raised a full crop of Irish potatoes this year is a lucky man. There is a shortage of potatoes in New York, Boston Philadelphia and Chicago, and the recent great drought has largely diminished the prospective supply. A year ago potatoes were selling for $1.25 a barrel; now the price is $4, with the prospect for a still further advance to $5 or more, says the Savannah News.

The Engineer's Prayer.

An old railroader was converted says an exchange, and when asked to lead in prayer, said:

"Oh, Lord, now that I have flagged Thee, lift my feet off the rough road of life, and plant them safely on the deck of the train of salvation. Let me use the safety lamp known as prudence; make all my couplings in the train with the strong link of Thy love, and let my hand-lamp be the Bible. And my heavenly Father, keep all the switches closed that lead off on the sidings, especially those with blind end. Oh, Lord, if it be Thy pleasure, have every semaphore block along the line have the white light of hope, that I may make the run of life without stopping. And, Lord, give us the Ten Commandments as a schedule, and when I have finished my run, and on schedule time pulled into the dark station of Death may Thou, the Superintendent of the universe say with a smile: 'Well done thou good and faithful servant; come up and sign the pay-roll and receive your check for eternal happiness.'"

Running a newspaper is just like running a hotel, only different. When a man goes into a hotel he sees something on the table which does not suit him, he does not get up and raise hives with the landlord and tell him to stop his old hotel. Well, hardly. He sets that dish aside and wades in to some of the many dishes that do suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find an article occasionally that does not suit them exactly and, without stopping to think it may please hundreds of other readers, make a grand stand play of their supreme asininity and hasten over to stop the paper.—Falls City (Nebr.) Journal.

On life's canvass one of the most touching scenes is rapidly fading from our sight. The war time-slave is fast leaving, one at a time, never to exist again. As they depart the south weeps with repentance that it ever held them in this state of bondage. How sad when we realize that the old "black mammy" who, at events so faithfully rocked us into our childhood slumber, that familiar slumber, the slumber we can never again enjoy, the slumber we can never forget. How faithful was her tender care. Can we ever forget her? No. There is a tendency of sincere affection that will ever bind her to my memory. The old male servant, too, who made the blazing fires that shielded us from the wintry blasts of bleak December and whom would trot us on his knee as he told us stories of "many years ago." Here and there through the dand is dotted the scattering faces of these old reminiscences of the past. Close your eyes for another ten years and when you awake the last scene of this pathetic drama will have faded from existence behind the curtain of Time.—Fla-tonian Record.

From the woman's column of the Atlanta Constitution we glean the fact that "white stockings for ladies is the coming fad." We hope to see more of them.—Dalton Argus.

Bro. Thomas, of the Dawsonville Advertiser, has mentioned the name of Hon. G. M. Taylor, of that county as being favorably spoken of for senatorial honors next time.

The lynching business in Georgia is on the increase. Last week a morning on the Savannah Morning News told how a lot of negroes sought to lynch one of their color for a bad crime on one of his race.

The new town of El Reno, O. T., was swept by a furious tornado on Wednesday night of last week killing a few persons and wounding many scattering merchandise all over the parairie, damage amounting to thousands of dollars.

A negro in Atlanta wants the southern road to pay him $5,000 for a damaged leg while at work for the company. According to him the negro's leg is more valuable now than some of their bodies were before and during the war.

Mr. J. W. West, who graduated from the N. G. A. College, at Dahlonega, last June, has been elected commandant of cadets at Reinhardt Normal College, Waleska, and will probably teach Latin, Greek, etc.—Dawson Advertiser.

John Walker, a negro preacher, was arrested in Atlanta for stealing corn from a mans patch one day last week. Then a case was made against him for carrying concealed weapons. He must have been one of the devils preachers.

Mrs. Orgain was choked at the point of a pistol by a negro brute in Atlanta last week and robbed of her pocket book. Just such as this causes lynchings and should. The quicker such brutes are thined out the better it will be for helpless females.

The state tax rate will probably be raised to $5.40 per thousand, says the Atlanta Constitution, on account of various extra appropriations. The legislature should close down on many of its appropriations. The taxes have gotten to be a burden and are entirely too high.

State School Commissioner Glenn wants an addition of $3,000,000 for educational purposes. We think it is time to call a halt, unless education is made compulsory. The people of Georgia are taxed enough already. If commissioner Glenn can't run the public schools with the present funds he had better stop down and out.

Mining Notes

Mr. Packard, of Turkey Hill, is down in the shaft with five men. It is very rich. Some pieces of the ore hang together with gold.

The placer miners down on Cano Creek, mentioned in last weeks paper, are making very good wages, notwithstanding the draw back caused in the beginning by the inclement weather.

Mr. Whorton is doing well on the Calhoun, and Bob Poston is making about $10 a day, while Beck and Loggins are taking out some $25 a day. Things certainly look yellow down that way.

Mr. Howe, who is mining over in the edge of Hall county, was in the city a few days last week. He has his mill running on ore which he thinks will pay well causing him to feel confident of success.

The Birch Bros. dredge boat will be sold by its owners here at auction next Tuesday. This is very valuable property and no doubt will realize the gentlemen a right good sum of money for it has certainly paid them a handsome dividend.

Members of the Dahlonega Milling and Mining Co., visited the Briar Patch mine last week who is reported, will begin work on an early day. Norrell and Miller, in their placer mining on it, cleaned up 175 pennyweights the other day.

Work is still progressing by the owners of the Findley mine in the tunnel endeavoring to strike the rich chute again, having already reached a distance of about 150 feet. This tunnel is being cut so as to reach the chute much lower than it has ever been worked before.

Bill Bryson, an old experienced miner near Auraria, says that if he can get a lease on certain property down that way that gold will not be worth more than forty cents a bushel. Now laying all jokes aside, Mr. Bryson has often told us that he knows of a vein as rich as the Findley chute.

The work down on lot 810 by Messrs. Edgecomb and Hutchins is progressing nicely. Their little ten stamp mill and one giant began work last week and the results are very satisfactory. The ore from one of the veins shown us by the gentlemen last week is very rich, showing gold nicely, being worth hundreds of dollars per ton. These gentlemen have started their mine in a business like manner, making us feel confident that they will meet with success. They have our best wishes.

One reason the Consolidated Co. failed to make money is because of the extravagant expenditures of money by its managers. The total expenditure of money from May 1st, 1900, to April 1st, 1901, was $26,114.28, as follows:

In giving the members of the company in the north the facts about their operations we have gained all their friendship and confidence except the promoters, thus enabling us to be able to secure this report to prove that our assertions heretofore made are perfectly correct. No mine or any other business can be expected to pay and prosper under such management.

Down at the Hand mine a few months ago a boss superintended four men who did the tramping. Now one man under contract does all this work alone. Such economy as this is sure to prove beneficial. We simply give you this item to show you the difference in its management then and now.

Mr. Ashley is enlarging his dredge boat besides making preparations to build two others. This boat has been operating in the Chestatee river only a short time but has given such satisfaction as to cause him not to be afraid to make this additional outlay of money. The bed of the Chestatee river all through the gold belt is rich with gold, some of the nuggets being very large. One found by Mr. Ashley recently weighed ten pennyweights.

Gen. Warner, president of the Crown Mountain Co., has been busy for some time in getting his plant ready to begin operation. For many weeks he has been right on the ground, from early morning till dewy eve giving things his personal attention. In fact it has been the way all along. He did not come to Dahlonega and first organize a Sunday School class for grown people, like some mining presidents we could mention, but on the other hand organized a mining company, went to work, continued it until he has the best gold saving plant in the county—not only this but has a large hill with a sufficient amount of ore in it to keep this plant running for many years to come, with good paying results.

The Crown Mountain plant is now in good working trim, and at the first clean up if good results are not made every native miner in this country, both old and young, will be badly deceived, for the best experienced men are in charge of the various departments and no where on the property do you see bosses sitting around looking over a few hands. All work. The mill has now started on full time.

Georgia pays $2,000 every year to the United States government for postage stamps for her officials.

We understand that Hon. G. D. Bruce failed to receive anything in the Oklahoma land draw. Mr. Bruce has no consolation, he got to see his mother and several other relatives for the first time in six or seven years and this is worth a whole heap to him.

CHAINED FOR TEN YEARS

There is nothing like Asthmalene! It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was always a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had over-spoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full size bottle."

Rev. Dr. Morris Wechsler, Rabbi of the Cong. Bnai Israel, New York, Jan. 8, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS' MEDICINE CO., Gentlemen: Your Asthmalene is an excellent remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever, and its composition alleviates all troubles which combine with Asthma. Its success is astonishing and wonderful. After having it carefully analyzed, we can state that Asthmalene contains no opium, morphine, chloroform or ether. Very truly yours, Rev. Dr. MORRIS WECHSLER.

A VON SPRINKS, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO. Gentlemen: I write this testimony from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I chanced to see your sign upon your windows on 120th street, New York. I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can conscientiously recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease. Yours respectfully, O. E. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO. Gentlemen: I was troubled with Asthma for 22 years. I have tried numerous remedies but they have all failed. I ran across your advertisement and tried with a trial bottle. I found relief at once. I have since purchased your full size bottle, and I am very grateful. I have family of four children and for six years was unable to work. This testimony you can make such use of as you see fit. Home address, 238 Livingston st., S. RAPHAEL, 67 East 120th st., City.

TRIAL BOTTLE ABSOLUTELY SENT FREE ON RECEIPT OF POSTAL.

Do not delay. Write at once, addressing DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO., 78 East 130th Street, New York City.

Is your house insured? If not, why not?

Capt. Joseph Allen is going to move to Atlanta.

Eggs sold at 15 cents per dozen here last Wednesday.

Can you afford to take all the risk of loss by fire or lightning?

Our job work department is increasing and spreading, having filled three orders from Dawson county last week.

L. Parnell, of Atlanta, while on his annual trip to the mountains for a little recuperation, paid our office a pleasant visit last Friday.

Prof. J. M. Martin, principal of the Dahlonega Public School, has arrived and getting ready to take charge of the institution next week at the appointed time.

It was meant to say last week that non resident pupils at the Public School would be charged $1 per month but the figure 3 by a slip of the thumb and finger caused it to read differently.

We notice that it is a more difficult matter for an old Confederate soldier, who went to the front, to receive a state pension than many who stayed in the outskirts, away from danger and neither shot a gun or heard one fired.

J. H. Carter, the banker of Blue Ridge and Dahlonega, has donated to the N. G. A. College library $100. He has also subscribed $800 to the Dahlonega railroad. Mr. Carter speaks of locating in Dahlonega and we hope he will for such liberal hearted men are the kind it takes to build up a place.

Advertisers who may not know can bear in mind that if we can't show by the records at the Dahlonega post office that the Nugget has the largest circulation of any paper published here now or at any other time we won't charge them a cent for their advertisements. Our patronage is good and we want strangers to know why it is.

J. W. West, of Atlanta, paid our city a visit last week in company with his wife. Mr. West favors a railroad to Dahlonega enough to subscribe one hundred dollars. The gentleman has lived in towns and cities having railroads enough to know their advantage to every one owning real estate therein. Mr. and Mrs. West own some choice property in Dahlonega and the building of a railroad here will increase its value, like that of many others, hundreds of dollars.

In the mayors annual report last year he mentioned the importance of the cemetery being enlarged on account of its crowded condition. Thus far the enlargement of some of the streets have received the attention of this honorable body and no notice given the dead in the manner set forth by the mayor—he too has likely forgotten it. This matter is very important for the free ground is about all taken except a little rocky space, causing poor persons not having sufficient money to bury dynamite to have to bury their relatives very shallow.

Yahoola district is still ahead. The other Sunday Wash Walker and his son Jimmie got into a fracas about some hogs or cattle getting into Jimmie's corn patch. Jimmie drew his gun, "Turkey" Bill Postell interfered. No one was even wounded and things were partially quiet until several warrants were procured for each. Arrests were made and the Squire was getting ready to start the wheels of justice to moving when the matter was compromised by Jimmie's sister settling the cost in his case and the father's sweet heart paying his, so we are reliably informed, and everything is once more quiet on the sparkling stream of Yahoola.

Watch, and see when your subscription expires.

J. F. Moore, of Dahlonega, lost one of his fine horses in Gainesville the other day.

Some needed improvements are being made at and around the college boys dormitory.

We understand that E. B. Crisson has leased one of the mining lots down about the Barlow mine from the Consolidated Co.

Misses Liza and Jessie McAfee have returned home after an extended visit to friends and relatives in Atlanta and other places.

While at work at the Howe mine in Hall county last week Mr. Loveless got one of his hands severely mashed and one of his fingers broken.

N. A. Hadden, of Catawba, Island, O., in renewing his subscription to the Nugget under date of Aug. 21st, says: Enclosed find a $1 bill to renew my subscription to the Nugget. Please send me the back No. to make my record or file complete.

Mr. Breyman, vice president of the Consolidated Co., returned last Tuesday and is giving the company's interest his personal attention. We trust that he will meet with success on every hand. He has thousands of dollars invested here and has acted in a manner to deserve success.

I have a lot of clothing that I will sell at cost for cash to close out. Also 500 yards prints at 4, 500 yards of prints at 5, heavy cottonades at $3, 10 and 12 1/2; sheeting 5 and 6. A small lot of spool thread at 25 cents per dozen. Cottonade pants 40, 50 and 75 per pair. If you want bargains come while they last. J. H. McKee.

But few, if any of the veterans of Lumpkin county attended the reunion at Gainesville last week owing the very rainy weather continuing up to the time. Those mostly attending lived more accessible to the railroads than we do. The meeting was certainly a joyful occasion for the citizens of Gainesville did every thing they could to make all present enjoy themselves.

Tate Sons were expecting to build a barn on the corner of their lot fronting the street running up by Mr. McAfee's, but since the council has had it worked out the owners have decided to locate their barn elsewhere and save this corner for a dwelling in case they see proper to build one at any future time. This is the result of good roads and streets.

If there are any incorrect statements made in the Nugget about mining or anything else there is an easy way to remedy it, either by a process of law or whip it out of us. We will take either if not too severe in the latter. Probably some that we could mention would make a better success in fighting than they have in mining. We mean to give the news as it occurs while in the business.

The gold ore settlement between J. B. Witt and J. W. Adams, president of the Consolidated Co., has not yet been decided by the arbitrators. What will be the result no one can tell or when or where it will end cannot be guessed at. We understand that when Mr. Adams borrowed this rich ore to ship to the north for a display, he signed the receipt for the same individually, but when the arbitration began the papers were signed by him as president of the Consolidated Co.

We are told that F. R. Adams, one of the Consolidated Co. promoters living in Delaware, writes to the Signal stating that it is by far the best paper published in Lumpkin county. So did the Professor say here in Dahlonega not many months ago one Sunday sitting on a pile of wood in front of the court house that the Hix Process "didn't only save the gold but actually made it. Of course no one believed that and it's very doubtful whether he really believes what he said about the Signal himself or not.

Mrs. J. C. Brittain is now on a visit to relatives in Gainesville.

We are glad to say that all the bridges in the county have stood the storms.

Hon. J. W. H. Underwood and Capt. Asbury, of White county, have been on a visit to our city this week on business.

Thomas Sain is the only registered brandy distiller in the county. He never fails when there is any fruit to make enough for medical purposes.

Anderson & Jones' new store house is going right up, being built large enough and high enough to accommodate the K. & P. Society on the second floor.

Merchant Will Jones is also keeping up with the progressive march of improvement. Having recently made additions to his store house which are very convenient.

Eli Jones is slowly recovering from his long spell of sickness. It is the only case of typhoid fever in town that we know of and it was contracted elsewhere, the patient having taken sick while here on business.

Many of the laborers of Crown Mountain works took stock in the railroad last week. When common laborers want to help build a railroad others who are more able giving nothing should go in and close the doors.

We have continued work on the Museum Hall until it is in splendid shape. The interior is nicely finished up now. A person can ride the goat and look at the beautiful walls and not get scared so bad as heretofore.

The Dahlonega district road commissioner met here last Monday and disposed of some three or four road defaulters. They were fined one dollar each and cost. Young John Forster failed to come before the board, having sent word that he didn't expect to work the road. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Jess Satterfield requests us to say that there was had conducted at Pleasant Ridge church recently but his boy was not to blame. He went there to help sing and carry on the meeting, and all went well until some of the boys brought bad wine. The second time he went to go out of the church a guard standing at the door with a pistol tried to make him return and he shoved him out of the way so he could pass. He says his boy is a good son and went there with the intention of no trouble whatever.

The patrons of the public schools are requested to send their children promptly next Tuesday morning at the opening of the school. On Monday before the pupils will be classified. Don't forget this for it is very important to have pupils on hand at the appointed time. It is especially urged that beginners be entered as early as possible during the first month of each term—i. e., either in September or February—as they can not be satisfactorily placed in their classes later on in the term.

Capt. W. J. Worley spends no idle time but is still busy taking subscriptions for the Gainesville and Dahlonega electric line. Men who never took any stock in an enterprise of this kind are now coming to the front and lending a helping hand. Judge Murray, upon his return from Gainesville last week said that the people of that city were taking a hand and doing their part and that the breaking of dirt on the road was near at hand. Sufficient water power between here and Gainesville has been secured. So there is no trouble on that hand. In other words to make it short Judge Murray said that "things are all right." Now let the amounts asked for be subscribed at once so as to help hasten this enterprise which is so important to Dahlonega. Don't have to be hunted up, but come forward and do your part willingly, without any hesitancy whatever.

Merchant Joe Ricketts will move his stock of goods into the old John Simmons store house, belonging to B. R. Meaders & Sons.

Dr. Howard is moving in his fence on the line of the street leading to the old Baptist church, improving the looks up there considerably.

The past months rain filled the canal at the power plant of the Crown Mountain Co. so as to necessitate its being cleaned out this week before things could move successfully.

The Union Store has changed hands or will by Monday, having been purchased by Capt. H. D. Ingersoll, of Dahlonega, who is well known to every citizen of Lumpkin county. We most heartily wish the Captain success.

At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Consolidated Co. at Toledo, O., last week F. W. Bainbridge, of that city, was elected secretary and treasurer of the company who will take charge at once.

C. M. Eldridge, was arrested in Bartow county last week on a warrant sent out from the sheriff of Lumpkin county. Eldridge is the man who visited Dahlonega some time ago in company with some parties in search of mica who displayed his pistol and knuckles enough to cause the grand jury to indict him in two cases.

We have a decayed tooth that ought to be filled but it is a jaw tooth, and we dislike to have any work done on it for fear that we would twist our mouth round to one side so much to show the gold, that it would drop out of the hinges like an old broken down gate, resembling a woman's who has had one of her teeth filled with a lot of the yellow metal, we saw the other day.

Gen. Warner will leave for New York in the interest of the Gainesville and Dahlonega electric railroad at once. He is due in New York on the 10th of September. He would have been there earlier but had to wait for the bonds to be received and signed by Judge Murray, president of the railroad company, so he can carry them with him and secure the money, arrangements for it having already been made heretofore.

Several of our citizens have for some time been paying the Consolidated Co. $3 each for torch lights to be lit. This has ceased and all these lamps are gone out except two. It was found to be most to expensive by private parties, especially when those contributing nothing received the same benefits as those that did. Just like it is in the building of our railroad. All want it and know it will be a benefit to them but wish some one else to foot the bill.

The Baptist church at this place is now without a pastor. Rev. A. F. O'Kelley's time having expired who preached his last sermon on Sunday night, and took his departure for White Sulphur Springs the following Tuesday. After a little outing he will return to the Mercer University. Mr. O'Kelley has made many friends while sojourning here and we trust was the means of saving many souls for he worked hard enough and if he has failed it is not his fault. His place will be filled later on.

Aye Marr and Berry Crane were both arrested by Sheriff Davis last week, each making bond. The latter is charged with setting liquor and the former was wanted for disturbing divine worship several years ago and has been on the dodge ever since. When discovered he was in his parents stable and had come out to throw rocks up on the dwelling to wake them early in the morning. The sheriff made a break for the fugitive who made an opening through the corn patch like a small cyclone trying to get away but when the sheriff shot up into the air Marr turned his course and came back to the officer.

Capt. F. W. Hall took his departure for his new home at Ingle-side, Ga., last Monday.

Rev. Taylor Dowdy cut his foot with an ax very severely one day last week.

Mrs. Vickery, after an absence of some months returned to Dahlonega last Saturday.

Miss Marie Gillard has returned home after an extended visit below among friends and acquaintances.

The breast works recently made on East Main Street by the city council have been removed causing the street to look considerably better.

Notwithstanding the recent heavy rains causing the streams to be considerably swollen, we do not hear of a great deal of damage to the crops.

J. H. Jenkins has commenced the manufacture of brick down at the old Brick Yard, where those for our court house were made more than fifty years ago.

Mrs. B. R. Meaders has just recently found out who killed her pea fowl some time ago, simply because its voice disturbed the slumbers of many late risers.

Parents, are you going to send your children to school this fall or let them ramble the streets which will eventually lead them into mischief and eventually get them into the chain gang?

Dr. Cravens of Chicago, who is well known in Dahlonega, made his appearance in the city last Sunday. He had several very prominent gentlemen with him looking at the Briar Patch property.

The date line to Dr. Howard's article in last weeks issue should have been over Mr. Hyde's piece. Dr. Howard lives in Dahlonega and Mr. Hyde is a prosperous merchant of Jonesboro, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson, of Cleveland, Ga., will have charge of the boys dormitory of the N. G. A. College hereafter. They have already arrived and we most heartily welcome them to our city.

Col. Farrow passed through Dahlonega to Porter Springs first of the week. The damage to the road by a water spout on the other route prevented him from going that way. We like to have the Colonel come by occasionally any way.

But few, if any of the veterans of Lumpkin county attended the reunion at Gainesville last week on account of the confined rains for weeks. Nevertheless there was quite a number of old soldiers present who enjoyed the well prepared dinner gotten up by the good ladies of that city.

The series of meetings at the Baptist church, closed last week with much better results than were expected. The continued rains interfered to some extent but it prevented the cigarette smokers from standing on the outside as has been the custom during protracted meetings, forcing them to go in and look at the minister or return home.

Tom Black, the well known commercial drummer, who resided in Gainesville, was drowned in the Soque river the next day after he left Dahlonega middle of last week, leaving a wife, two children and a host of friends all over this country to mourn his loss. The stream was swollen when he and a Mr. Allen drove in. Soon the buggy, team and men began to wash down stream. Mr. Allen succeeded in getting out. He stood and watched his friend rise and go under for the third time but was powerless to render any assistance. He ran down the bank of the river to a shoal, more than a mile below and waded in and caught the horses and cut the harness, succeeded in getting one out. The other drowned and washed on down the river for eight miles from where it started, before lodging. A searching party was organized in Gainesville to go up and drag for the body but failed to find it after a two days search.

Col. Charters is attending Superior Court this week.

Miss Mary Moore returned home from her visit to Rome last Tuesday.

Have your circulars distributed by the Distributing Agency, Dahlonega, Ga.

There are only three prisoners in jail now—being Ben Adams, Lewis Ash and Bill Crane.

The president and professors of the college are expecting an unusually large attendance of students at the near approaching fall session.

A reward of $250 reward has been offered for the body of Tom Black, who was drowned in the Soque river in White county last week.

The commissioners of Hall county have demanded that lightning arresters be put up on the Gainesville & Dahlonega Telephone in that county.

Mrs. Ballinger of Floyd Springs, Ga., came in this week to visit her sick brother, W. C. Moore, who has been confined to his room for some time, but is improving a little, we are glad to state.

Notwithstanding it was reported that many cases of scarlet fever existed in Dawson county several persons from Dahlonega attended the camp meeting down there last Sunday and we look for more fever to be scattered than religion.

The negro, Raymond Ross, who assaulted Mrs. Harriett Miller recently, was hung in Canton Tuesday last. He said he was right off for heaven. There are a number of negroes in Lumpkin county who want to go to heaven but we are glad to say that they have had more sense so far to know that they can't get there by the hemp route.

Last Tuesday night just as the congregation was dispersing from Yahoola church Floyd Anderson and Willie Marr, two young men, fell out about a girl and were fixing to hitch right on the church steps—Anderson with drawn knife, when parties interfered and stopped it. Some more food for thought for those favoring foreign missions.

We received a postal card from Atlanta last Wednesday dated the 23rd, and several times this year the Atlanta papers and other mail have not reached Dahlonega until two days old, and some times when the back is overloaded with passengers and various things the sack containing the papers are tied on behind in the rain and the papers have to be dried before they can be read.

The Third Quarterly Conference of Lumpkin Charge, will be held at Shady Grove church on Wednesday the 16th of October. So the Presiding Elder informs us. This is a postponed service, the Conference having failed to meet last Saturday. Dr. Lewis was on hand, and preached to men only, and not many of them. He does not fancy that kind of a congregation. Let the whole circuit get ready for this important meeting, and let the stewards see all the members at once. Everybody invited to go.

Rev. Mr. Parker, a Primitive Baptist minister from Gilmer county, has been up at Yahoola church, in this county, preaching, who it is thought by some will be chosen as his pastor at the next regular meeting. This somewhat surprises us to learn that a "hard shell" preacher is about to be called to take charge of a Missionary church, especially after its members acted like they did some years ago—refusing to let Rev. Goodman Hughes, a Methodist minister, preach a funeral in that church after being selected by the relatives of a departed one. No better christian than Uncle Goodman Hughes ever lived in Lumpkin county, but he has long since died, and reached heaven, while some of those objecting members are far away from the place standing on caving ground.

A small amount of money expended on the Hightower gap of the Blue Ridge by the county or by private subscription, we learn will put it in a good possible condition. If this was done Dahlonega would receive much of the trade of Fannin county which now goes elsewhere. Leading men from the other side have promised if the gap is worked out they will put the one on the other side in good condition. Had you ever thought of what advantage this little expenditure of money would be to Dahlonega?

Attention, Young Men!

The state, recognizing the necessity of your obtaining an education, has established at Dahlonega, a college where you can have the advantage of a $40,000.00 equipment and a faculty, each man a specialist in his department. Tuition is free and board is only $8.00 a month in Dormitory. It is your college, built for you, supported by you, and stands ready to help you. It is not a town school but a real college, being one of the five male colleges of the state. It costs no more to go to a real college than to one only in name. Don't cheat yourself by going to a school without library or scientific laboratories. Lumpkin county boys and girls should attend by the score. The county needs educated men and women. Invest your money in brains. Don't delay longer.

"My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhoea," says J. H. Doak, of Williams, Oregon. "We were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale by The Matthew's Drug Co.

THE CROWN MOUNTAIN GOLD Mining & Milling Co.

The Crown Mountain properties are situated in the very heart of the Georgia gold belt and in the radiating center of all the leading gold veins of the Dahlonega district. They embrace what is believed to be the mother lode of the Appalachian Range.

The extensive and rich ore bodies in sight upon these properties assure long continued mining operations and the indisputable guarantee of the permanent and increasing value of the stock of "The Crown Mountain Co."

The projectors of this company were the first to revive the mining interest in this district in 1896. After three years of careful and exhaustive examination of all the mines of the district of reputation as gold producers, and they had the choice of all, they selected the Crown Mountain combination as the ideal gold mine of the district which would yield or produce the most gold with the least expense. This opinion is shown by all the mining engineers, mining experts, miners and citizens of any standing in the district who are familiar with the properties. As an evidence of this we here state that more of the citizens of the town of Dahlonega and vicinity have taken stock in this company than have in all the other companies combined that have organized in this district.

The company is to be managed by practical business men—who have given much of their time to mining and mining operations, and always with unvarying success.

The present directory is for the most part composed of men who have had much experience in the mining enterprises, and under its efficient and economical management, and by reason of a visible gold supply that is practically inexhaustible, an investment in the stock of this company is undoubtedly safe.

The capitalization of the company is not commensurate with the visible productiveness of the properties and is meagre compared with the capitalization of other truly celebrated mines in the district, but the management believe it will be able to make the stock worth above par.

We invite all prospective investors to make a personal inspection of the mines. We also invite them to examine all the other mines in the district—compare the quality and quantity of the ore and the facilities for economically treating the same. We have no fears of where the choice will fall.

Four hundred and fifty thousand children attended school in Georgia this year. The increase in attendance over last year is very large, and interest in education is growing strong. The anticipated attendance for next year is 500,000.

The Monroe Tribune says that there are eight negro brothers living near Gloster in Gwinnett county who constitute a remarkable family. Not one of them has ever taken a drink of whisky or coffee or used tobacco.

Cuban watermelons have appeared in the markets of Washington City. They weigh about three pounds, are fifteen inches long and ten inches in diameter, and have to be fried before eating.

The times call for young men who not only have well-developed brains, but muscle and a very great willingness to use it as well. There has always been; and always will be, a place for the intelligent, honest and industrious young man. He may have college education, or he may be a young man who has worked his way up from the bottom of his chosen occupation. He must be a broad-gauged man in his ideas, and this can only be found in the well-informed man. The important fact for the boy to remember who has aspiration to succeed is that he must determine to be something early in life, and never lose sight of the fact until he has reached his goal.
